OBSERVATIONS

 ON THEFlorid Song; OR, SENTIMENTS ON THE Ancient and Modern Singers;
Written in Italian
By Pier. Francesco Toni, $<$ Of the PhilHarmonic Academy at Bologna.
Translated into Engli弓
By Mr. $G A L L I A R D$.
Ufeful for all Performers: Inftrumene tab as well as Vocal.

To which are added,
Explanatory Annotations; and Examples in Musics.

Ornari Rocs info negate, contcnta doceri.
The ECOND Edition.
Printed for J. Wilcox, at Virgil's Head, in the Strand. 1743.

Noti, By the Anciont, our Author means thofe who liv'd about thirty $n$ : forty Years ago; and by the Modirn the late and prefent Singers.
N. B. The Original was Printed at Bologna, in the Year 1723.

T O A L L

Lovers of MUSICK.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Erfons of Eminence, Rank, Quality, and a diftinguifhing Tafte in any particular Art or Science, are always in View of Authors who want a Patron for that Art or Science, which they endeavour to recommend and promote. No wonder therefore, I fhould have a 2 fix'd

To all Lavers

fix'd my Mind on You, to patronize the following Treatife. If there are Charms in $\mathrm{Mu}-$ fick in general, all the reafonable World agrees, that the Focal has the Pre-eminence, both from Nature and Art abrac the Inftrumental: From Nature, becaufe without dorbt is was the firlt ; from Art, becaufe thereby the Voice may be brought to exprefs Sounds with greater Nicety and Exactnefs than Infruments.

The Charms of the human Voice, even in Speaking, are very powerful. It is well known, that in Oratory a juft Modulation of it is of the higheft Confequence. The Care Antiquity took to bring it to Perfection, is is a fufficient Demonftration of the Opinion they had of its Power ; and every body, who has a difcorning Faculty, may have experienced that fometimes a Difcourfe, by the Power of the Orator's Voice, has made an Impreffion, which was lof in the Reading.

But, above all, the foft and pleafing Voice of the fair Sex has irrefiftible Charms, and adds confiderably. to their Beauty.

If the Voice then has fuch fingular Prerogatives, one muit naturally wifh its Perfection in mufical Performances, and be inclined to forward any thing that may be conducive to that end. This is the reafon why I have been the more eafily pre-vi To all Lovers, &c.
prevail upon to engage in this Mon, in order to make a Ennous Itainaz Mater, who trans io wed on this Subject, Fmivarto Ergima ; and why I Trine to offer it to your Pronébon.

The Part, $I$ Sear in it, is not enough to Cham any Merit; but my endeavouring to offer to your Perafal what may be entertaining, and of Service, intitles me humbly to recommend my bert to your Fawot lino am,

AN...at cisincot
Fo na Sonant,
J. E. Galliard.

A

Prefatory Difcourfe,

GIVING

Some Accolint of the Author.

IE R. Francefco Tofi, the Author of the following Treatife, was an Italian, and a Singer of great Eflecm and Reputation. He fernt the moft part of his Life in travelling, and by that Means heard the moft eminent Singers in Europe, viii Prefatory Dijcaurfe rona, from whence, by the Help of his nice Tate, he made the following Obfervatons. Among his many Exorlons, his Curiofity was raised to rift England, where ho refided for tome time in the Reigns of King James $\therefore$ te Second, King william, Hing Gorge the Firf, and the Beginning of his prefent Majesty's: He dyed foo after, haring hied to above Fonfore. He had a great deal of Wit and Vivacity, which he retained to his latter Days. His manner of Singing was full of Expreffion and Patin ; chinchy in the Stile of Chanter-Munc!. The bet Per-

concerning the Author. ix

 Performers in his Time thought themfelves happy when they could have an Opportunity to hear him. After he had loft his Voice, he apply'd himfell more particularly to Compotion ; of which he has given Proof in his Cantata's, which are of an exquinte Tate, efpecially in the Recitatives, where he excels in the Patbatick and Expref $f^{2}$ on beyond any other. He was a zealous Well-wiher to all who difinguifhed themfelves in Mufick ; but rigoyous to thole who abuse ad degraded the Proteinon. He was very much efteened by Prions of Rank; among whombi
$x \quad$ Prefatory Dircourfe
the late Earl of Peterborough was one, having often mot him in lis Travels beyond Ea; and le was well received by his Lordhip when in Engcurd, to Whom he dedisated this Treatife. This alone would te a fufficiont Indilation of his Merit, his being taken Notice of by a Perron of that Quality, and diitinguihing Fate, The Emperon fofefo gave him an honourable Employment in forme part of Italy, and the late Aich-Duthels a Church-Resirement in Elarious, where he died. As for his Obferratimes and Sentiments on Singing, they must speak for themSelves; concerning the Author. xi felres ; and the Translation of them, it is hoped, will be acceptable to Lovers of Mulick, because this particular Branch has never been treated of in fo difinct and ample a Mannev by any other Aut?or. Befides, it has been tr wight by Perfons of Judge that it would be of Service to make the Sentiments of our Author more univerfally known, when $\because$ Gie Cafe in Monck is fo mantling; and, that the fe Confines, as they are palled by an Italian upon his own Comitrymen, cannot but be looked upon as impartial. It is incontentable, that the Neglat of true Study, the facrib: facing
xii Prefatory Difcourfe ficing the Beauty of the Voice to a Number of ill-regulated Volubilitics, the neglecting the Pronunciation and Expreflion of the words, behides many other Things taken Notice of in this Treatife, are all bad. The Studious will find, that our Author's Remarks will be of Adrantage, not only to Vocal Performers, but likewife to the Inftrumental, where 'Tante and a Manner are reoured; and fhew, that a little lefs Fiddling with the $V$ cice, and a little more Singjing with the Inflrument, would be of great Service to Both. Whofoever reads this Treatife with Application, cannot fail of concerning the Autbor. xiii of Inaprovement by it. It is hoped, that the Tranflation will be indulged, if, notwithftanding all poffible Care, it fhould be defective in the Purity of the Englifh Language; it bcing almoft imponlible, (confidering the Stile of our Author, which is a little more figurative than the prefent Tafte of the Englif allows in theis Writings, ) not to retain fomething of the Idiom of the $O$ riginal ; but where the Senfe of the Matter is made plain, the Stile may not be thought fo material, in Writings of this Kind.

$$
\text { b. } 3 \text { THE }
$$

T HE Author's Dedication
TOHIS

Excellency the Earl of Peterborough, General of the Marines of Great-Britain.
My Lord,

Dedication.

of Ingratitude, fhould I any: longer defer publifhing the very many Favours, which Yuur Lord/bip fo generoufly has befow'd on me in Italy, in Germany, in Flanders, in Englands: and principally at your delightful Seat at Parfon's-Green, where Your Lord/bip having been pleafed to do me the Honour of imparting to me your Thoughts with Freedom, I have often had the Opportunity of admiring your extenfive Knowledge, which almoit made me overlook the Beauty and Elegance of the Place. The famous Tulip-Tree, in your Garden there, is not fo furprifing aRarity, as the uncommon Penetration of your Judg$\times \mathrm{xi} \quad$ Deă̈cation.
Judgment, which has fometimes (I may fay) foretold Erate, which have afterwards come to par. But what Retorn can I make for fo great Obligations, when the mentionEng of then is doing myfulf an Honour, and the very Acknowle'gment haste Aperyonce of Vanity? It is better theodore to trafure them up in my Hent, and remain refruatuly filet ; only making an hank le Requite to Your Lerithe, that you will cond hond fircuably to accept this mean Differing of my Ons: Rations; whin I am induce to make, from the comron Duty which dies upon every Profeffor to preferve Mudick

Dedication. xvii

fick in its Perfection; and upon Me in particular, for having been the firt, or among the firt, of thofe who difcovered the noble Genius of your potent and generous Nation for it. However, I fhould not have prefum'd to dedicate them to a Hero adorn'd with fuch glorious Actions, if Singing was not a Delight of the Soul, or if any one had a Soul more fenfible of its Charms. On which account, I think, I have a juft Pretence to declare myfelf, with profound Obfequioufnefs, Your Lordship's

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { Moft bumble, } \\ & \text { Moft decoied, and } \\ & \text { Mof oblig'd Servant, }
\end{aligned}
$$

Pier. Francefco Tofi.
(xiii)

$$
\begin{gathered} \text { THE } \\ \text { CONTENT. } \end{gathered}
$$

7 HE Introcuction. Pag. s

C HAP. I.

Obfervations fir one who

$$
\begin{gathered} \text { taches a Shomo p. } 10 \\
\text { CHAP. II. } \end{gathered}
$$

Of we Affggiatura. p. 3 r
C H A P. III.

Of the Slicke. p. 41
CHAP. IV.

On Diviforis.
p. $5^{r}$

CHAP.

CO N TENTS.

CHAP. V.
Of Recitative.
p. 66

CHAP. VI.
Observations for a Studerit. p. 79
CHAP. VII.
Of Airs. - $\quad$ p. $9 \boldsymbol{r}$
CHAP. VIII.
Of Cadences. - p. 126
CH AP. IX.
Observations for a Singers. 140
CHAP. X.
Of Paffages or Graces p. 174

BOOKS Printed fur J. Wilcox, opponte the new Church in the strard.

J. A Phinane crmerabicus Method of teaching the thorough Bats atter the mofe ratow hamer, with proper Rules and Examfion tr l'acetice, by I. F. Lampe.
II. I lie S-ngs and Duetti's in the Rurlefyue Onoa, curd, Ite Dragon of Wantley, in Score, by I.F. Lampe, 5 s.
II. Tie lume, adapted to the German Flute, Harto, of Vion, hy J.F. Lampe, 3 s.
IV. The Burlecicue Ofera, called Margery, Sens a Sequel to the Dragon of Wantey, in icur, in I. F. Lampe, 6 s.
i. Ite Overures and Choru:s to both thice Buriecque $\mathrm{O}_{\mathrm{i}}$ erch, which are to be fold a- :e to thete Gen:lemen wion hive the Opera's A.sol, by J.F. Lampe, 5 s.
VI. A inuica: D.Etionary: Being a ColJettion of Terms ciid Charaters, as well Ancia: as Molem. Inclumy the hiforical, thevout.cui, and pract cal Paits of Mufick.
 aporit the formeng Shats, comaining a Mufical Ditionary, and ricmmind itan as very ulfofl,

I. C. Pepusch.
i. Greene.

4
J. E. Galifard.

$$
\text { Chap. } 2 \text { ! }
$$

(

$$
N!\sigma .
$$

$$
\mathrm{NO}
$$

528
Pagc
179

$$
[1]
$$

THE ## INTRODUCTION.

HE Opinions of the ancient Hittorians, on the Onigin of Mufick, are various. Pliny believes, that Amphion was the Inventor of it ; the Grecians maintain, that it was Dionyfus; Polybius afcribes it to the Arcadians; Suidas and Boctius give the Glory entirely to Pythagores; alferting, that from the Sound of three Hammers of different Weights at a Smith's Forge, he found out the Diatonick; after whici Timotheus, the Milefian, added the A

[2]

Chromaticis, and Olmpicus, or OlymAis, the Emhamer ch Scale. However, we read in hoy Writ, that foubul, of the Race of Coin, fit Pate Canentium Citlarit oi Organs, the Father of all fact: as handle the Harp and Organ ; Intmments, in all Probability, confining of cue al harmonriots Sounds; from whence one may infer, Muse to have h dis Birth vo$\because$ Eon after the both.
§ $=$ T Cone her from ewing, fIfe called $t=$ her instance n my P:COFR O o be Mathematics: and fin in the Dunomtratons of her Beautho, $\because \because$ Doss of ines, Numbers, and Parotid as, the was adopted her Chit, and :came a Science.
§ 3. It miry radonably be suppoler, that, during the Courfe of fererat thounci Year, Mufick has always been the Ought of Mankind; inge the ene re e Feature, the Lacedemaniz:ns served from it, induced the Republics to exile the abovementioned Alton, that the Spar$\therefore \ldots$, feed from their Effeminacy, might whun return again to their old Oeconomy.

[3]

§ 4. But, I believe, fhe never apwhed with io much M.jefty as in the lat Centuries, in the great Genius of Pollofina, whom nie left as an inmortal Example to Pofterity. And, in Truth, Mufic: with the Swectnef's of his Harmon: amwed at fo high a Pitch, (begegig Pardon of the emiwant Matter of sur Davs) that I! ion was ronked only in the Numbel alibom iers, the mighe with Jui. tice comet the Pre-cminerce.
$\therefore \therefore$ When Are an: Sciences wele re - aninf from the Mabation in which they Burind, Munck chaffy took its Ritem - Sums ani the Componers of Munch athas masument of others. In Italy the: arofe or that Scom, mong fweal others, $P$. A"i$\therefore$ Bixa, a Genins fo extrandinary, tint be - Moked un as the Reflat amons the Mlio. Scun, He heod in Popt $L$ os the Tenth': Tane; and no Munck, that we know of, is promed at the P pe's Capel, to this Da, wit of his Comport in, cseept the famous $\pi=2 \mathrm{ij} \mathrm{i}_{\text {- }}$ $\cdots$ of Aliecri, who liv'd a littie time after $P a$ -

[4]
§ 5. A Atrong Argument offers itfelf to me, from that wonderful Impreffion, that in fo diftinguiked a Manner is made upon our Souls by Mufick, bejond all other Arts ; which leads us to believe, that it is part of that Bleffednefs which is enjoyed in Paradife.
§ 6. Having premifed thefe Advantages, the Merit of the Singer fhould likewife be diftinguifhed, by reafon of the particular Difficulties that attend him : Let a Singer have a Fund of Knowledge fufficient to perform readily any of the moft difficult Compofitions; let him have, befides, an excellent Voice, and know how to ufe it artfully ; he will not, for all that, deferve a Character of Diftinction, if he is wanting in a prompt Variation ; a Difficulty which other Arts are not liable to.
§ 7. Finally, I fay, that Poets, Painters,

[^0]Painters, Sculptors, and even Compofers of Mufick, before they expofe their Works to the Publick, have all the Time requifite to mendand polifh them ; but the Singer that commits an Error has no Remedy; for the Fault is committed, and paft Correction.
§ 8. We may then guefs at, but cannot defcribe, how great the Application muft be of one who is obliged not to err, in unpremeditated Fioductions ; and to manage a Voice, alw!ys in Motion, conformable to the Rules of an Art that is fo difficult. I confefs ingenuoully, that every time I reflect on the Infufficiency of many Maters, and the infinite Abufes they introduce, which render the Application and Study of their Scholars ineffectual, I cannot but wonder, that among fo many Profeffiors of the firft Rank, who have written fo amply on lowed, that by reation of the Expreffion of the Words, any Error in Singing will be more capital, tha: if the fame were cummitted on an Infrumant.

$$
\text { A3 } \quad \text { Mrfick }
$$

$$
101
$$

Mutic! in amott all its Branches, there has never been one, at leaft that I have heard of, who has undertaken to explain in the Art of Singing, any thing more than the firfi Elements, known to all, concealing the moft neceffury Rules for Ginging well. It is no Excuieto fay, that the Compofers irter: on Compoftion, the Performers on Infuments intent on their PerFommace, llouht not meddle with what oncems the Coner; for I know fome var ap.ble to undeceive thofe whe may aicks. The inemparabe Zarims, in the third part of his Hnemonch Thtimution, chen. 46. juft Gagan to imeigh againtt thofe, who in his time fung with fome Defects, but kitcaf'd; ind I am apt to believe, bud he gen: farther, his Documents, though grewn mefty in two Centu$\therefore \therefore$, might be of Service to the refin© Tifte of this our prefent time. Eue a mee un Reprof is due to the - aigeto if miny colentated Sing$\cdots$. : $\quad$ anc aperiorKnowledge, uni.y tieir Silence, even under under the Title of Modefty, which ceafes to be a Virtue, when it deprives the Publick of an Advantage. Moved therefore, not by a vain Ambition, but by the Hopes of being of Service to feveral Profeffors, I have determined, not without Reluctance, to be the firft to expofe to the Eye of the World thefe my few Obfervations; my only End being (if I fucceed) to give farther Infight to the Mater, the Scholar, and the Singer.

[7]

§ 9. I will, in the firit Place, endeavour to flow the Duty of a Mafter, how to inftruct a Beginner well; fecondly, what is required of the Scholar; and, laftly, with more mature Reflections, to point out the way to a moderate Singer, by which he may arrive at greater Perfection. Perhaps, my Enterprize may be term'd rahh, but if the Effects fhould not anfwer my Intentions, I fhall at leaft incite fome other to treat of it in a more ample and correct Manner.
§ 10. If any fhould fay, I might be difpenfed with for not publifhing Things

$$
\text { [ } 8 \text { ] }
$$

Things already known to every Profeflor, he might perhaps deceive him. felf; for among thefe Obfervations there are many, which as I have never heard them made by any body elfe, I fall look upon as my own; and fuch povably they are, from that not being generlly known. Let hem ther fore take their Chance, for the Approbation of thofe that have Judgmentand Tafte.
§ ir. It would be needlefs to fay, that re:bal Inftuctions can be of no Ufe to Singers, any farther than to prevent'em from falling into Errors, and that it is Practice only can fet them right. Fiowever, from the Succefs of there, I hall be encouraged to go on to make new Difcoveries for the Advantage of the Profeffion, or (afham'd, but not furpriz'd) I will bear it patiently, if Mafters with their Names to their Criticifm fhould kindly publifh my Ignorance, that I may be undeceiv'd, and thank them.
§ 12. But though it is my Defign to demonftrate a great Number of Abufes and Defects of the Moderns to be met with in the Republick of Mufick, in order that they may be corrected (if they can ;) I would not have thofe, who for want of Genius, or through Negligence in their Study, could not, or would not improve themfelves, imagine, that out of Ma lice I have painted all their lmperfections to the Life; for I folemnly proteft, that though from my too great Zeal I attack their Errors without Ceremony, I have a Refpect for their Perfons; having learned from a Spani/b Proverb, that Calumny recoils back on the Author. But Chriftianity fays fomething more. I fpeak in general; but if fometimes I am more particular, let it be known, that ${ }^{-}$ I copy from no other Original than myfelf, where there has been, and ftill is, Matter enough to criticize, without looking for it elfewhere.

[9]

$$
\mathrm{CH} A \mathrm{P} . \mathrm{I} .
$$

Oeserfatrons jou ome whotechis a Eopmo. *
 nate themfelves to eafily into the Ninds of ycung Begimers, and there are fuch

* The Autor $\because 6,7$ ti: ; for the Infrueion ff s.ano or a tricie Voice, becauf Youth phifesthat Mas mory, and that is the Bee wea toe: mout bexn io fusy Nafock. It is nota at ope an a Thanat ramal by
 We e is bucc: y ocharit reative to its

[1]

wh Dinicultics in come ting them, when grown into an Hibit, that it wi:e to be wifh'd, the ableft a :..ns would underake the Tank of ㄴ. Whing, they but knowing how to rombet the scholar trom the firft Whents to Fetion. But there beiner none, (it I mitake not) but wito abhor the Thoughts of it, we matereav them for thome Delicacin of the Art, which enchant the - い!
if 2. Therefore the firft Rudimonts neceffarily fall to a Mafter of a bower Rank, till the echolar can hins his part at Sight; whon one wold at leaft wiih to be an inme? lian, diligent and experienced, withat the Defects of finging through the Nofe, or in the Throat, and that aid alto equally the Pathetck. The Contr' 16 more of the Pathrick than the Volubility; $\therefore:$ Tiasr leis of the Putuetick, but more of the Wublility than the Comer'Alto, though not fo micil as the Supran. The Bafs, in general more pompous than any, but fhould not be fo biterous as now too often practifed.

[:2]

he have a Command of Voice, fome Glimpfe of a good Tafte, able to make himfelf underfood with Eafe, a perfect Intonation, and a Patience to endure the fevere Fatigue of a moft tirefome Employment.
§ 3. Let a Mafter thus qualified, before he begins his Inftructions, read the four Verfes of Virgil, Sic vos non cobis, &xc. * for they feem to be made
§ 3. By this Section, and mofly throughout the Work, one fees, the Author calculated this Treatife chiefly for the Advantage of Profeffors of Mufick ; but, notwithftanding, it appears in feveral Places, that his Intention is, that all Lovers of Mufick fhould alfo be the better for it.

* The Explanazion of Sic vos non vobis, Esi. for the Satisfaction of thoje who do not perfeestly remember it.

Firgil having compored a Diftich, containing the Praife of Augufus, and a Compliment on his good Fortune, fixed it on the Palace Gate, without any Name fubfcrib'd. Auguflus making ftrict Enquiry after the Author, and Virgil's Modefty not fuffering him to own the Verfes, one Pathyllus, a Poet of a mean Repatation, owned himfelf the Author, and received Honour and Reward from the Emperer. Virgil, fome- ing confidered them well, let him confult what fcandalized at this Accident, fixed an Hemiftich in thefeWords (Sic vos non vobis) four times repeated under the other, where he had placed the former Verfes. The Emperor was as diligent to have thefe Hemiftichs filled up, but no-body appearing to do it, at length Virgil fupplied them thus:

Hos ego Verficulos feci, tulit alter Honores;
Sic vos non vobis nidificatis aves.
Sic vos non vobis vellera fertis oves.
Sic vos non vobis mellificatis apes.
Sic vos non vobis fertis aratra boves.
i.e. Thefe Verfes I made, but another has taken the Applaufe of them.

```
So ye Birds build not your Nefl,
    For your folves.
So ye Shreep bear not your Wool
    For jourglves.
So ye Bees make not jour Honey
    For your felves.
So ye Oxen fubmit to the Plow
        Not for yourfelves.
```

Upon this Difcovery, Bathillus became the Ridicule of Rome, and Virgil acquired a double Reputation.

[14]

armith: Refolution ; becaufe (to peak panly) it is mortifying to help another to $亠$ inuence, and be in want of it himetif. If the Singer hould make his Fortane, it is but gut the Matter, to whom it has been owing, flould bean : Sharer in it.

8 4. But a'rove all, let him henr with a inntereted Ear, whether the Perion duitous to leorn bath a Voicc, and a Dipostion; that he may not be oblyed to give a ftrict Account to Goy, of the l'arent's Moncy ill fent, an the Infury done to the Child, by the mander Lof of Time, wattis:
 D. E w: a...
 the abiak tray : WerteRuer the rach.

Tes Coment io that Cafar defigning re $n=$ Niyt was rany and unpromifne, yet fich Veater :cteme win the Morning, ai cid nut cianamate solumity.

$$
\left[\begin{array}{ll}
15
\end{array}\right]
$$

Which might have been more profitsA, emolounta tome other Profefion. 1 $\therefore$ riot ak at random. The wat Males made a Difinction , Caen the Rich, that lournd MuAis as an Accomplihment, and the If: who fludied it for a Livelihood. Thenift the v infracted ont of Anteeft, and the latter out of Charity, it they difuvered a fingular Talent. Ger few mo:lern Matters refufe SchoLars; and, provided they are paid, ixtle do they care if the Greediness ruins the Frofefion.
§ 5. Gentlemen Matters! Ital! Hears no more foch exquifite Voices; as in Times pant, particularly among the Women, and to the Shame of the Guilty I'll tell the Reafon: The Iowince of the Parents does not let them perceive the Badness of the Voice of their Children, as their Necefinty makes them believe, that to fang and row rich is one and the fame Thing, uni to learn Mufick, it is enough to have a pretty Face: "Can you make "anything of er?"

B 2
§ 6.

$$
[15]
$$

&. You mas perhaps, teach them with their Toice - Modery will rot permit me a explain myfcif farther.
87. The Nater muft want Humanit, if he aduites a Scholur to do any thing to the Peciudice of the Soul.
88. From the fint Leffon to the laft. let the Nin'er remember, that he is anfwerable for $-n y$ Omiffion in Lis Intrutions, and or the Errors he whet correct.
§9. Let hm le moderately fevere, maknstmith far'd, but not ratue. 1 kocm , it is not eafy to find the Nem Demen cureity and Mildnoi, but 1 l.:ow alfo, that both Fytemes a:e bad: Tco great Sevewhy creates Stubbornnefs, and too great Misunef Contempt.

Io. I shail not fpeak of the Kapwedge of the Notes, of their Value, of Time, of Paufes, of the Accidents, nor of other fuch trivial Eesinnings, becaufe they are genethe kill § 11.

[ 17 ]

811. Befides the C Cliff, let the scimar be inftructed in all the other Ciffr, axd in all their Situations, that he may not be liable to what often mperis to fome Singers, who, in Conpofitions Alla Capella *, know no how to diftinguin the $M i$ from mis, withont the Help of the Orw:, for want of the Knowledge of the $G$ Cliff; from whence fuch Difwrdancies arife in divine Service, that it is a Shame for thofe who grow old a their Ignorance. I muft be fo finure to declare, that whoever does not give fuch effential Infructions, tranftrefles out of Omifiion, or out of Igis rance.
$12. Next let him learn to read theie in $l 3$ Nclle, efpecially in thofe Com-
$\therefore$ \%. 11. Seven Clifit necffiry to be known. Pl. I. Numb. i. By the Help of thefe Cliffs iny Line or Space may be what Note you pute. Pl. I. Numb. 2.

* Ain Capellw, Church Munck, whacre the Fats and Slarps are not mark'd.
© 12. It is noceflary to undernand the Sol. I..-1 g, and its Rules, which foew where the $B$ : W.

Compofitions that have four Flats at the Cliff, and which on the fixth of the Bafs require for the moft part anaccidental Flat, that the Schoiar may find in them the Mi, which is not fo eafy to one who has fudied but little, and thinks that all the Notes with a Flat are called $F a$ : for if that were true, it would be fuperfluous that the Notes thould be fis, when five of them have the fame Denomination. The Fronch ufe feven, and, by that additional Name, fave their Schclars the Trouble of learning the Nutations afcending or defcending; but we Italians have but $U_{t}, R_{i}, M i$, Fa, Sol, La; Notes which equally fuffice throughout all the Keys, to one who knows how to read them*.
:wo Semitores licin e:ch OZtave, PI. I. Numb. 2. Where Flats or Sbarcare marked at the Giff, the Rue : , if one Flat, That is Fa; if rocre Fiate, the lat. If one Sharp, That is Mi; $\therefore$ micre Sraps, the ait.
${ }^{*} \mathrm{H}: \mathrm{s}$ Menning E , that the Frond are not in $\therefore \mathrm{A}=\mathrm{c}$

[ 19 ]

§ 13. Let the Mafter do his utmoft, to make the Scholar hit and found the Notes perfectly in Tune in Sol-Fa-ing. One, who has not a good Ear, fhould not undertake either to intruct, or to fing ; it being intolerable to hear a Voice perpetually rife and fall difcordantly. Let the Initructor reflect on it; for one that fings. cut of Tune lofes all his other Perfections. I can truly fay, that, except in fome few Profeffors, the modern Intonation is very bad.
§ 14. In the Sol $F_{a-i n g, ~ l e t ~ h i m ~ e n-~}^{\text {en }}$ deavour to gain by Degrees the high Notes, that by the Help of this Excrcife he may acquire as much Compals of the Voice as poffible. Let him take care, however, that the higher the Notes, the more it is neceffary to touch them with Softnefs, to avoid screaming.
§ 15 . He ought to make him hit the Semitoncs according to the true Rules. Every one knows not that there is a Semitone Maior and Minor *, bec.are the Difference cannot be known he an Oran or Harphichord, if the Kars of the Infrument are not fplit. A Tone, that gradually paies to anothar, is livided into nine almorimpereptilde Intervat, which are called Commas, five of which confitute the Semione Iator, and four the Ahon: Some are of Opmion, that there are :o more than feven, and that the greati: Number of the oue half contitutes the min, and the lefs the fecond; bat this daes not fatisfy my weak Undertanding, for the Ear would find no Difinculty to dietinguin the feventh p.a: of a Tone; whercas it meets with a rery grat one to ditiaguih the path. If ore were continusis to ara only to thofe aboveweatord Intmonens, this Knowledeemight bu annecifary ; but fince the time that Comoners introduced the Cuhom of coconting the Opera's

[^1]$$
!
$$
\[

\left[$$ \begin{array}{ll}
21
\end{array}
$$\right]
\]

with a vaft Number of Songs aciompanied with Bow-Inftruments, it becomes fo neceflary, that if a Sofromo was to fing $D$ fharp, like $E$ Hht, a nice Ear will find he is out of Tune, becaufe this laft rifes. Whoever is not fatisfied in this, let him read thofe Authors who treat of it, and let him confalt the beft Performers on the Violin. In the middle parts, however, it is not fo eafy to diftinguifh the Difference; tho' I am of Opinion, that every thing that is divifible, is to be diftinguifhed. Of thefe two Semitones, I'll fpeak more amply in the Chapter of the Appoggiafirra, that the one may not be confounded with the other.
$ 16. Let him teach the Scholar to hit the Intonation of any Interval in the Scale perfectly and readily, and keep him ftrietly to this important Leffon, if he is defirous he mould fing with Readinefs in a fhort time.
§17. If the Mafter does not underftand Compofition, let him provide himfelf with good Examples of s- f-Fi-ing in divers Stiles, witul intentbly lead from the mote ury to the wove bincut, according as he find: the Esholar morroes; with this Caution, that humever dincult. they may be alway natural and agreeable, to induce the Echolin to itudy with Pleafure.

[22]

GIS. Iet the Viafter attend with great Cure to the Voice of the Scholar, which, wheher it be di Petto, or di Tiju, houid always come forth neat and clear, without paning thro' the No'e, or being chouked in the Throat; which are two the moft horrible Defects in a Singer, and paft all Remedy if once grown into a Habit.
§ 9. The ititle Experience of fome thit teach to Sol-jit, obliges the Schohr to hold out the Semibreves with roice on the higheft Notes; the Conrequence of which is, that the Glands of the Throat become daily more and more inflamed, and if the Scholar loies not his Health, he lofes the treble Voice.

[23]

§20. Many Mafters put their SchoAis to fing the Contr' Alto, not knowin , how to help them to the Faljet$i$, or to avoid the Trouble of finding is.
\$2I. A diligent Mafter, knowing that a Sofirans, without the Falfetto, is conltained to fing within the narme Compais of a few Notes, ought mon only to endeavour to help him i. it but alfo to leave no Means untiol, fo to unite the feigned and the whural Voice, that they may not be iftinguihed; for if they do not perfectly unite, the Voice will be of direr. * Regifters, and muft confequently 1, $\mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{it}}$ Beauty. The Extent of the © 21. * Regifaer; a Term taken fiom the difwent Stops of an Organ.

$$
[24]
$$

full natural Toice terminates generally upon the fourth Space, which is $C$; or on the firth Line, which is $D$; and there the feigned Voice becomes of Cle, as well in going up to the high Notes, as returning to the natural Voice; the Difficulty confifts in uniting them. Let the Mafter therefore confider, of what Moment the Correction of this Defect is, which ruins the Scholar if he overlooks it. Anong the Women, one hears fometimes a seprans entirely di Petto, but amorg the Male Sux it would be a great Rarity, hould they preferve It atter having pait the Age of Pubert. Wheever would be curious to diforer the feigned Voice of one who f.as the Art to difguife it, let him take Notice, that theArtiit founds theVowel $i$, or $c$, with more Strength and lef: Fatgue than the Vowel $a$, on the high Notes.
622. The lyce di Tita has a great Voubilit, more of the high than the lower Notes, and has a quick Shake, but bat fubject to be loft for want of Strengh.

[25]

§23. Let the Scholar be obliged to pronounce the Vowels diftinctly, that they may be heard for fuch as they are. Some Singers think to pronorince the firft, and you hear the fecond; if the Fault is not the Marter's, it is of thofe Singers, who are farce got out of their firft Leffons; they ftudy to fing wish Affectation, as if afhamed to open their Mouths; others, on the contrary, ftretching theirs too much, confound theie two Bowels with the fourth, making it impoffible to comprehend whether they have faid Balla or Bella, Seffo or Saflo, Mate or More.
$$ 24$. He fiould always make the Sholar fing Atanding, that the Voice may have all its Organization free. §25. Let him take care, whillt he ings, that he get a graceful Pofture, and make an agreeable Appearance.
§26. Let him rigoroufly correct all Gimaces and Tricks of the Head, of the Body, and particularly of the

$$
\left[\begin{array}{ll}
26
\end{array}\right]
$$

Mouth ; which ought to be compored in a Manocr (if the Senfe of the Vords permit it) rather inclined to a Smile, than too much Gravity.
§ 27. Let him always ufe the Scholar to the Pituh of $I$ imbardy, and not that of $R$ onaz; not only to make him acquire and preterve the high Notes, but alio that he may not find it troublerome when he meets with Inftruments that are tun'd high; the Pain of reaching them not only affectjing the Hearer, but the Singer. Let the Matter be mindful of this; for as Age adrances, to the Voice declines; and, in Progrefs of Time, he will either fins a Centr' Ales, or pretending itiil, out of a foolim Vanity, to the Name of a Sorrano, he will be obliged to make Application to every Compofer, that the Notes may not exceed the fourth Space (ciz, C) nor the Voice hold out on them. If all thofe, who teach the firft Rudiments, knew § 27 . The P:tch of Lomlardy, or Venie, is foriething more than thalf a Tone bieler than st $R$ :me.

[ 27 ]

now to make ufe of this Ruiè, and ti) unite the feigned to the natural. roice, there would not be now fo grat a scarcity of Spprano's.

2 . Let him learn to hold out th: Notes without a Shrilincfs like a Trumpet, or tremblag; and if at the Beginning he made him hold out every Note the length of two Bars, the Improvement would be the greator'; otherwife, from the natural Inclimation that the Beginners have to kecp the Voice in Motion, and the Trouble in holding it out, he will get a Habit, and not be able to fix it, and will become fubject to a Flutt'ring in the Manner of all thofe that fing in a very bad Tafte.
820. In the fime Lefons, lo: him tech the A-t to pat fort the Voice, Whith contis in letios it fwell by Mures fon the fiteft Piano to the wist fote, wa lion thence with fre bum An retera fom the Fork

[28]

Fer, * from a Sager that ufo it matiest, and candy on the of on Vowda, con never fat of having an excute Effect. Very few of the proEa: Singer frt it to their Tate, tie from the imtahility of their Brice, c: :s crier to aroid all ManI: of Resemblance of the odious -mont If s, however, a maniffe hay they do to the Nightingale, who wa the Origin of it, and the on y that with the Voice can well mate. But perhaps they have found wee uther of the feathered Kind worry tear Imitation, that tings quite ate the New Mode.
:. . te: he lintier never be tired
 Go.dercoutr ; for if he gould

[29]

let him fing upon theVowels too foon, he knows not how to inftrut.
§ 31. Next, let him ftudy on the three open Vowels, pasicularly on the firft, bat not always upon the fame, as is practifed now-a-days; in order, that from this frequent Exercife he may not confound one with the other, and that from hence he may the eafier come to the ufe of the Words.
§ 32 . The Scholar having now made fome remarkable Progrefs, the Inftructor may acquaint him with the firt Embellihhments of the Art, which are the Apfoggiatura's * (to be fooke of next) and apply them to the Vowels.
633. Let him learn the Manner to glide with the Vowels, and to drag the Voice gently from the high to the Wwer Notes, which, tho' ( C alifications neceffary for finging well, cannot potibly be learn'd from Sul-fa-ing on-
S. 32 Sec for Apogrinua in the axt Chap ier.

$[30]$

IV, and are overlooked by the Unkiltil.

SA. But if he floculd let homing the Foods, and amply the Anpoggiatarn to the Vowel before he is perfete in Sol-fa-ing, he ruins the Scho. 1.7:

CHAP.

[31]

C H A P. II.*

Of the Appoggiatura $\dagger$.

MONG all the Embellihments in the Art of Singing, there is none fo eafy for the Mafter to teach, or lefs difficult for the

* This Chapter contains fome Enquiries into AHters of Curiofity, and demands a little Attosition. The Reader therefore is defired to whene it to the laft.
it Aphogiatura is a Word to which the Eng$\therefore$ Language has not an Equivalent; it is a Wote aded by the Singer, for the arriving more. cracefully to the following Note, either in rifing or falling, as is fhewn by the Examples in Nutes of Fiufick, Pi. II. Numb. 2. The French exprefs it by wo different Terms, Port de Voix and Appuyar ; the Scholar to learn, than the Apporgi.. atura. This, belides its Beauty, has obtained the fole Privilege of being heard often without tiring, provided it does not go bevond the Limits precribd by Pacfetfors of good Tafte.

$$
[3:]
$$

§ 2. From the Time that the $A p-$ frestatura has been invented to adorn the A.t of Singing, the true Reaton, why Wa-d A.N. to bean on. In thi Soff, you lean on the firt to arive at the Nicte intencid, rifing or falling; and you dweil longer ca the Preparation, than tae Vote for which the Preparation is made, and ascorting to the lalue ot the Note. 'The fame in a Prefarationto a Shake, or a Beat from the the Bexionine of a Fiece; there muft be a Note pezeura from uthence it leads.
&2. Here beese tie Examination of the $S_{e}$. - Ante Majorana litmer. which he promifed in $$ 15$. Ch. I. It ma: be ot satisfaction to the Studicus, to et this difater at once in a true Light; by which our Autror's Doubts will be cleartc, ard his Rearcning the eafier underftod, A Sonture Maice chances Name, Lune, and Sgace. A Sinitent Hirer changes neither. Pl.

$$
[33]
$$

wne it cannot be uied in all Places, whane vet a Secret. After having $\therefore$ ched fr it among Singers of the twa Rank in vain, 1 confidered that nafich, as a Science, ought to have its Paec, and that all Manner of Ways Fould be tried to difcover them. I do not fatter myfelf that I am arrived at it; but the Judicious will fee, at limit, that I am come near it. Howtre, treating of a Matter wholly prodaced from my Obfervations, I hinuld hope for more Indulgence in the Chapter than in any other.
§ 3. From Fractice, I perceive, that from $C$ to $C$ by $B$ Quodro, a Voice an aifend and deicend gradually with the Appegeiatzira, pafing withont any the leaft Gbitacle thro' ail the 11. Numb, i. To a Semitme Majer one cango wita a Rie or a Fail difinctly; to a Semitere Hinhar one carnot N. B. From a Tone Mitar the Appreiatura :a beter and eaner than from a Tote Mlator.
$$ 3$. Thefe are all Tones Nator and Rinthr, m Somitones Majer. Mi. II. Numb, 2.
five

$$
[34]
$$

Gre Ties, and the two Semitones, then make an OCtave.
4. That from every accidental Denis, or sham, that may be found in the Scale, one can gradually rife a $S_{c}$ mites to the neared Note with an Afrecintar, and return in the fame Mane.
5. That from every Note that has a $\dot{B}$ aura, co Natural, one can alcen k . Sem bents to crecy one that has a B Noil, of Flat, with an $A p$ fresint.r.
&. But, controrywife, my Ear tells me, that from $F, G, A,($, and $D$, one cannot rif eadualiy with an ApFersiation by famines, when any of Ǩu.う. :.
 N...

Sr. Bocce they are al Somitnes Minor, ...... non- be non b; the iburementioned *., other chang Name, Line, nor Tact. P. II. Nine 5. and which makes it the fe

[35]

thefe five Tones have a Sharp annex'd to them.
§ 7. That one cannot pais with an Anhoggicitura gradually from a third Alior to the Bass, to a third Major, no: from the third Major to the tind Minor.
$$ S$. That two confequent Appoggintura's camot pafs gradually by Se witones from one Tone to another.
§ 9 . That one cannot riee by Semitone, with an Appoggiatura, from an Note with a Flat.
$10. And, finally, where the ApporsSitura camotafcend, it cannot deriend.
§ 1 r. Practice giving us no Infight mito the Reafon of all thefe Rules, let us fee if it can be found out by thore who ought to account for it.
$$ 7$. For the fame Reafon, thefe being Semitmis Mincr. Pl. II. Numb. 6.
$8. Becaufe one is a Semitone Majr, and the other a Semitone Miner. PI. III. Numb. 7.
© a. Becaufe they are Semitones Minor. Pl. III. Numb. 8 .

$$
\text { § } 12 .
$$

$$
\left[3^{6}\right]
$$

§ 12. Theory teaches us, that the above-menticned Octave confining of twelve unequal Semitones, it is receffary to diftinguih the Major from the Minor, and it fends the Student to corvine the Tietrachords. The mont compic.ous Authors, that treat of them, ate not all of the fame Orion: Fo z we find rome who mention, that tron $C$ to $D$, as well $\therefore f(t)$ or the Semitones are equal : and mean while we are left

Si: The End, however, which is the meme Impure in this Att, $\therefore$ an the Ahtsiatura on nicely facer the Quality of the Simitar, the: :t deficiently diftinguihes the ab Ficus Thercors the tho Exam:u ma $C$ :o $D$, and from $F$ to $G$, do not $\because$ - $\because \because$ 。

13. His Per-bxity comes from a wrong Eu: on, in not chengiting thole two Sinai-

Sims-

[37]

Simitone Major. Therefore going fo agr ably from $M$ to $F a$, (that is) from $B \Theta$ uadro to $C$, or from $E$ to $F$, one ought to concludeThat to be a Semitone Major, as it undeniably is. But whence does it proceed, that from this very lic, (that is, from $F$ or $C$ ) 1 cannot if to the next Sharp, which is al$\therefore$ Semitone? It is Minor, fays the Gar. Therefore I take it for granted, that the Reaton why the Appogriatu. "a has not a full Liberty, is, that it mot pals gradually to a Semitome Hinor; fubmitting myfelf, however, a hetter Judgment.
& 14. The ingogsiaturd may likewit pafs from one diftant Note to wher, provided the Skip or Interva be are deceitful; for, in that Cafe, 6 It All Intervals, whar with an Appara. wns atie to the Note with a fort of Beat, ar or iefs; and the tame, defcending, arrive - the Niste with a fort of Shake, more or lefs. i". ill. Numb. 9, 12. One cannot ageably Gand or defcend the Intenval of a third Liajor or himon. Pl. III. Numb. if. But gradually ery wedl. Pl. III. Numb. 12. Examgles of dis or decaitful Intcrvals. P. III. Numb. I3.

$$
\left[\begin{array}{ll}
3
\end{array}\right]
$$

shore: Bes not hit it fire, will hew the: how not how to ling.

15 . Fine, as I fad, it is not amble fo: a singer to rite gradually in an that ora to a Semitone fo, Father wit teach him to rif . F $\because \cdot \because$, that Em thence he may de$\therefore$ an wa an -anasation to that a...zere on i. the has a Mind to wame to whew the hocrexidura, $\because$ rube the Vole with a Milo di for, the Tr e anus ming till he reaches it.
for. It the Scholar be well infruited in this, the Appoggiatura's will become to familiar to him by continual Practice, that by the Time Ce A come ont of his Aft Leffons, whin hal at the Compofers that arab herameral is de-
 I:: .... .an wan inn Comport$a=$ mac ic, iuppung A where to pace then.

[39]

mark them, with a Defign either to be thought Modern, or to hew that they underftand the Art of Singbag better than the Singers. If they Hie this Superiority over them, why do they not write down even the Grace, which are more difficult, and more efiential than the AppogCara's? But if they math them, that they may acquire the gloniuls Name of a Treats ola Mola, os - Compofer in the new Stile, they wight at leaf to know, that the Addition of one Note coff little Thoube, and lefs Study. Poor Italy! pay tell me ; do not the Singers now-a-days know where the Appoggintuva's ate to be made, unless they are pointed at with a Finger? In ny The their own Knowledge hewed it them. Eternal Shame to hin n who frit introduced there foreign $\mathrm{Pu}-$ certifies into our Nation, renowned for teaching others the greater part of the polite Arts; particularly, that of Singing! Oh, how great a Weakoof in thole that follow the ExamD $2 \quad$ ple!

$$
[\div 0]
$$

ne: Oh, injurious Infult to you Mocern siasers, who dubmit to Infruc. tions it for Children! Let us imitate the Foregne: in thofe Things onlv, - bern ther exal

CHAP

$$
[4 \mathrm{I}]
$$

C H A P. III.

 Of the Shake.

E mect with two mof powerful Obftacles in forming the Skake. The firft embarrafies the Mafter; for, to this Hour there is no infallible Rule found to teach it: And the fecond ifin 'ts the Scholar, becaufe Nature mupurs the Slioke but to few. The Impaticnce of the Mafter joins with de Defpair of the Learner, fo that Hey decline farther Trouble about i. But in this the Mafter is blamewe, in not doing his Duty, by leavWig the Scholar in Ignorance. One muft frive againR Difficulties with Patience to overcume them.

[42]

§2. Whether the Shake be neceffry in Singing, ak the Profeffors of the firf Rank, who know better than any others how often they have been i.: dated to it; for, upon any Abfence of Mind, they would have betraced to the Publick the Sterility of their Ait, whit the prompt AiCame of the Store.
3. Wherever has a fine Shake, the ranter mary other Grace, Twas emp the Advantage of concunchmalr without giving Dirthe th the Ex y Cadence, where for twa rt part is is very cfiential; and wo mats is, or has it imperfectof what mete be a great Singer, let W. Knowledge be cue fo great.
E. The Slake then, being of Sch Comequence, let the Marker, by the Mans of ware Initructions, and tamper val ad inftrumental, eve that the st, ar may attain one tart e awl, atcocty make, coly, as moderately quit, which are its artful Oqumatins.

$$
85
$$

[43]

§5. In cafe the Mafer fhould not know how many Sorts of Sbakes there are, I hhall acquaint him, that the Ingenuity of the Profeffors hath found fo many Ways, diftinguinhing them with different Names, that one may fay there are eight Species of them.
§ 6. The firt is the Sbake Maior, from the violent Motion of two ineighbouring Sounds at the Diftance of a Tone, one of which may be callc. Principal, becaufe it keeps with greater Force the Place of the Note which requires it; the other, notwithftanding it poilefies in its Motion the fuperior Sound, appears no other than an Auxiliary. From this Shake all the others are derived.
§7. The fecond is the Sbake Mi-

[^2]$$
\text { [ } 44 \text { ] }
$$
mor, confifting of a Sound, and its neighbouring Semitone Major; and where the one or the other of thefe two Sbakes are proper, the Compofitions will eafily fhew. From the inferior or lower Cadences, the firft, or full Tone Shake is for ever excluded *. If the Difference of thefe two Sbekes is not eainly difcovered in the Singer, whenever it is with a Semitone, one may attribute the Caufe to the want of Force of the Auxiliary to make itfelf heard diftinctly; befides, this Shake being more difficult to be beat than the other, every body does not know how to make it, as it fhould be, and Negligence becomes a Habit. If this Sbake is not diftinguifhed in Inftruments, the Fault is in the Ear.

* Ste for the Meaning of fuperior and inEvior Cadutite, Chap. VIII. & 1. Pl. V. Numb. 3. N. $B$. From the interior or lower Cadences, the firlt, or full Tone Shake, is not always excluded; for in a fharp Key it is ainas a Tita, and in a Hat Key a Semitone. Pl. IV. Numb. 3.
- §8.

$$
[45]
$$

§ 8. The third is the Mezzo-tritl3, or the fhort Sbake, which is likewife known from its Name. One, who is Mafter of the firf and fecond, with the Art of beating it a little clofer, will eafily learn it; ending it as foon as heard, and adding a little Brilliant. For this Reafon, this Sbake pleafes more in brink and lively Airs than in the Patbetick.
§ 9. The fourth is the rifing Sbake, which is done by making the Voice afcend imperceptibly, fhaking from Comma to Comma without difcovering the Rife.
§ 10 . The fifth is the defcending Sbake, which is done by making the Voice decline infenfibly from Comma to Comma, fhaking in fuch Manner, that the Defcent be not diftinguifhed. Thefe two Sbakes, ever §8. The third the fhort Sbake, PI. IV Numb. 4.
§ 9 . The fourth the rifing Sbake, PI. IV. Numb. 5
§ Io. The fifth the defending Sbake, PI: 1V. Numb, 6.

$[46]$

hace tore Tate has prevalied, are no mave in Vosee, andouaht rather to be forgethm rewn's. Anice Ear equally aborr the ancient ay Suff, and ti.e makem abure.

G 1. Th An is the thow Soke, whe Oanaty a a dnoted by its Sme He who dace not ftudy this an mo Omionought nut therefore to be fie sme of a good Sus*: fat reng ony an affected Wariag, the at ht unites with the Hett and ficon Slede, it cannot, I think, pitafe more than once.
12. The ferenth is the redoubled sinks, which is learned by mixing a few No.es between the Major or NHow Shate, which Interpoftion Abices to mate ferera sules of one. This is houtial, rhen thofe few Nutes, io intemmimel, are fung with Foce. If the. it be gently formed on the high sotes of an excellent
 N.ns

Y Iz Thenenth the readod sube, Pi. IV Nas.

Voice,

[ 47 ]

Voice, perfect in this rare Quality, and not made ufe of too often, it cannct difpleafe eren Envy itfelf.
$$ 13$. The eighth is the TrilloMordente, ou the Slake with a Beat, which is a pleafing Grace in Singing, whd is taught rather by Nature than by Art. This is produced with more Velocity than the others, and is no womer born but dies. That Singer his a great Advantage, who from time a) time mixes it in Paflages or Diminons, (of which I fhall take Notice in the proper Chapter.) He, who waderfands his Profefion, rarely fails of ufing it after the Aptorgiatura; and he, who defifes it, is guilty of more than Irmorance.
&14. Of all thefe shakes, the two at are most necemay, and require mot the faphication of the Mafter. I know too wel! that it is cuitomary to Pug withoet Shake's; but The Exampie of thofe whe ftudy b t fucreficily, oughe not to be imitated.

[ 48 ]

§ 15 . The Sbake, to be beautiful, requires to be prepared, though, on fome Occafions, Time or Tafte will not permit it. But on final Cadences, it is always necefflary, now on the Tone, now on the Semitone above its Note, according to the Nature of the Compofition.
§ 16. The Defects of the Sbake are many. The long holding-out Sbake triumph'd formerly, and very improperiy, as now the Divifrons do; but when the Art grew refined, it was left to the Trumpets, or to thofe Singers that waited for the Eruption of an EViva! or Brava! from the Populace. That Sbake which is too often heard, be it ever fo fine, cannot pleafe. That which is beat with an uneven Morion difgufts ; that like the Quivering of a Goat makes one laugh; and that in the Throat is the worft: That which is produced by a Tone and its third, is difagreeable ; the Slow is tirefome ; and that which is out of

- Tune is hideous.
> § 17. The Neceffity of the Sbake obliges the Mafter to keep the Schofar applied to it upon all the Vowels, and on all the Notes he poffeffes; not only on Minims or long Notes, but likewife on Crotchets, where in Procefs of Time he may learn the Chfe Sbake, the Beat, and the Forming them with Quicknefs in the Midft oi the Volubility of Graces and Divifions.
§ 18. After the free Ufe of the Sbake, let the Mafter obferve if the Stholar has the fame Facility in difwifing it ; for he would not be the firft that could not leave it off at Pleaい!?
&19. But the teaching where the seke is convenient, beides thofe on § 13. Shakes are gencraily proper from preceing TVutes defcending, but not alcending, texcept on garticular Occafions. Never too mant, or too near one another; but very is to begin with them, which is too freguentiv done. The ufing fo often Bents, Siakies, and Prepares, is owing to Lefions on the Lute, Harpfichord, and other Infruments, whofe Sounds difcontinue, and therefore have Meed of this Help.

[50]

Cadences, and where they are improper and forbid, is a Leffon referv'd for thofe who have Practice, Tafte, and Knowledge

CHAP。

[ 51]

"
C HAP. IV.

On Divifions.

H O' Divifions have not, Power fufficient to touck the Soul, but the moft they can do is to raife our Admiration of the Singer for the happy Flexibility of his Voice; it is, however, of very great Noment, that the Mafter inftruct the Scholar in them, that he may be Mafter of them with an eafy Velocity and true Intonation; for when they are well executed in their proper Place, they deferve Applaule, and make a Singer reore univerfat; that is to fay, capa. He to fing in any Stile.
\& 2. $\mathrm{By}_{\mathrm{y}}$ accuftoming the Voice of "Leamer to be lazy and dragzing, he F2 is is render au incapable of any confiderabe Progress in his Profenion. Whoforce has not Aghity of Voice, in Compoitions of a quacks or lively Movement, bones obowny the ane; and at lite retards the Time to mun, that wet thing he fungo Sonars ts be out of Tune.

$$
\left[z^{2}\right]
$$

3 . Deaden, according to the ge w and Opinion, is of two Winces, the AnGie, and the Climbing ; which lat, from its Slowness and Dragging, ought rather to be called a Pafage or Grace, than a Dicifoun.
& 4 . In regard to the firn, the Water ought to teach the Scholar that light Motion of the Voice, in which the Votes that confiture the Damion te a articulate in equal Program, and moderately dieting, bat they be rot too mach joined, noe to much massed.

[53]

§ 5. The fecond is perform'd in fuch a Manner, that the firlt Note is a Guide to all that follow, clotely mited, gradual, and with fuch Evennefs of Motion, that in Singing it. imitates a cert in Gliding, by the Mafters called a Slur; the Effect of which is truly agreeable when u.ed fipringly.
8. The mark'd Divifions, being more frequenty ufed than the other require more Pratice.
$$ 7$. The Ule of the Slur is pretty mach limited in Singing and is confinad within fuch few Niotes afeending or defeending, that it cannot go beyond 4fonth without dipleather. lifembo me to be more gratetul to the Far defoending, than in the contrary Metion
88. The Drast conlifts in a Succefion of divers Notes, arfully mixai widh the Forte and Pians. The Beauty of which I thall feank of in another Place.
§ 5. The Gliding Netes are like feveral Notes an une Srotic of the Buw on the Violin.

$$
\text { E. } 3 \text { § }
$$

$$
15 \div]
$$

$\hat{*} \mathrm{~g}$. If the Mafter haftens infenfibly the Time when the Scholar fings the $D$ lions, he will find that there is not a more effectual way to unbind the Voice, and being it to a Volubiity; bing howerer cautions, that thi immereptide Altertion do not eow by Dugrecs into a viciou; Habis.

导 $1=$. Iethin teach to hit the abending wasad, as in defeendina for thagh the dems to be on Intuation mo oly for a Begimen, yet we do no: An every Snger abie to peromi:

Si. After the madual Di-ijens, lei hom leurn to hir, withe greade Reanaef, all thote that are of dimcul Tinterals, thon, loug in Tune ond Tme, thy may with Junice defere one Aracion. Ihe Siudy of At: Eefun dumal: mone Time and Agbcation tian any other, not fo mict for the rita Domenty in atomwhe atend it: and, in aict, a Sing-or lots all Fear when the moft difficult Divifions are become tamiliar to him.

[55]

§ 12. Let him not be unmindful. to teach the Manner of mixing the Pamo with the Forte in the Divil/\% ; the Glidings or Shurs with the Nor'd, and to intermix the Clofe Whit ; efpecially on the pointed Wous, provided they be not too war one another; making by this Means every Embelithment of the Att appear.
© 13 . Of all the Infructions relat:ars to Divifions, the moft confiderhe feems to be That, which teaches t) unite the Beats and foort Shaie wh them ; and that the Mafter point ant to him, how to execute the: with Exactnefs of Time, and the Placos where they have the beft Effect: But this beiny not fo proper for one who teaches only the firt Rules, and fill lefs for him that begins to learn them, it would be better to have poftponed this (as perhaps I Sould have done) did I not know that that there are Scholars of fo quick Parts, that in a few Years become mont excellent Singers, and that there is no Want of Maters qualified to intuet Diciples of the mot prominny Genius; befides, it appeared to me an Impropecty in this Chapter on Dicitons whin the Beatrand Cob Shake char whereater Luttre than any othe (Gace) not to make Mention of then.

[ $5^{6}$ ]

&if. Let the sehodr not be fuffeed thima Diwnors with Unevennef et Time ot vation; and let him be correctud tit he matks them with the Tongue, of wh the Chin, or any other Grimare of the Head or Body:
§ IF. Every Mafer kiows, that on the thed and fith Vowel, the Diuibors are the worf; but cevery one coes not kow, that in the beft Ehondsthe feond and fourth were not Eermitted, when thefe two Vowels Eavenonace? clofe or united.
§ 16 . There are many Defects in the Dicifichs, which it is neceftary.

$$
[57] \text {. }
$$

ru know, in order to avoid them; fir, befides that of the Nofe or the "hoat, and the others already mentioned, thore are likewife difpleafing Which are neither mark'd nor gliding; io: in that Cafe they cannot be faid to fing, but howl and roar. There are fome ftill more ridiculous, who mark them above Meafure, and with roce of Voice, thinking (for ExamFic) to make a Dirifion upon $A$, it appears as if they faid $\mathrm{Ha}, \mathrm{Ha}, \mathrm{Ha}$, or Gba, Gba, Gba; and the fame upon the other Vowels. The worft Fault of all is finging them out of Tune.
& 17. The Mafter fhould know, the though a good Voice put forth With Eafe grows better, yet by too frift a Mution in Divifons it becomes an indifferent one, and fome.. times by the Negligence of the Maftor, to the Prejudice of the Scholar, it is changed into a very bad one.
f 18 . Divifions and Shake's in a Sicilianc are Faults, and Glidings and Draggs are Beauties.

$$
\text { § } 19 .
$$

[ 58 ]

§19. The fole and entire Beauty of the Diciten confits in its being perfectly in Tune, mark'd, equal, difinct and quick.
§ 20. Dicitions have the like Fate with the Shates; both equally delight in their Place; but if not properly introduced, the too frequent Repetition of them becomes tedious, if rot odious.
§21. After the Scholar has made himelf perfect in the ikake and the Dicifions, the Mafter fhould let him read and pronounce the Words, free from thofe grofs and ridiculous Errors of Orthegraphy, by which many deprive one Word of its double Confonant, and add one to another, in which it is fingle.
§22. After having corrected the Pronunciation, let him take Care that the Words be attered in fuch a Manner, without any Affectation, that they be diftinctly underftood, and no one Syllable be loft; for if they are not diftinguifhed, the Singer deprives the Hearer of the greateft Part of that Delight which vocal Mufick conveys by Means of the Words. For, if the Words are not heard fo as to be underfood, there will be no great Difference between a human Voice ind a Hautboy. This Defect, tho' one of the greateft, is now-a-days more than common, to the greatert Difgrace of the Profeffors and the Profeffion; and yet they ought to know, that the Words only give the Preference to a Singer above an initrumental Performer, admitting them to be of equal Judgment and Knowledge. Let the modern Mafter learn to make ufe of this Advice, for never was it more neceffary than at prefent.
©i: The manancieg Eror inftead of $E r$ - Whinas the doste Cononants from the Chste, is an E::ot ou:t tou common at prefent, they

[59]

§ 23. Let him exercife the Scholar to be very ready in joining the Syllables to the Notes, that he may siever be at a Lofs in doing it. $^{2}$.

$$
\text { § } 244^{\circ}
$$

[60]

§ 24. Let him forbid the Scholar to take Breath in the Middle of a Woad, became the dividing it in two is an Error asaint Nature; which mut not be followed, if we would rod beng laughed at. In interruptad Moments, of ia long Dirkane, it is not io rigorouty required, wien the ae or the other cannot be Mag in cue Breath. Anciently foch Cottons were not neceflary, but for the Lemmas of the int Rudiments; ow the Abut, having taken is Fie the modern schools, gathers stecogh, and is grown familiar with that wo pretend to Eminence. The Sister may correct this Fault, in to ching the Scholar to manage hoo Refutation, that he may always be promised with more Breath than is needful; ard may avoid undertaking what, for want of it , he cannot go thecugh with.
25. Let him hew, in all forts of Cumpofitions, the proper Place where to take Breath, and without Fatigue; because there are Singers who give Pain

[ 6I ]

Pain to the Hearer, as if they had an Afthma, taking Breath every Moment with Difficulty, as if they were breathing their laft.
§ 26. Let the Mafter create fome Fmulation in a Scholar that is negligent, inciting him to ftudy the Leffon of his Companion, which fometimes goes beyond Genius ; becaufe, if initead of one Lefion he hears two, and the Competition does not difcountenance him, he may perhaps come to learn his Companion's Leffon firf, and then his own.
§ 27. Let him never fuffer the Scholar to hold the Mufick-Paper, in Singing, before his Face, both that the Sound of the Voice may not be wfructed, and to prevent him from being bathful.
$$ 23$. Let him accuftom the Scholirto fing often in Prefence of Perrons of Diftinction, whether from Bith, Quality, or Eminence in the Profethon, that by gradually lofing his Fear, he may acquire an Affuralic:, but not a Boldiefs. Affurance F leads lenis to Fortune, and in a Singer becomes a Merit. On the contrary, the Fearful is mort unhappy ; labouring wader the Difficulty of fetching Breath, the Voice is always orembling, and coiled to lore Time at curer Note for fear: of being choked: He gives us Pain, in not being addle to thew his Ability in publick; difgufts tine Hearer, and ruins the Compofictions in rich a Namer, that they are not known to be what they are. A timorous Singer is unhappy, like a Prodigal, who is miferably poor.

$$
[62]
$$

§ 29. Let not the lifter neglect to foe him, how great their Error is who mane Shat or Dielifions, or thine Breath on the focopated or bindir g Notes; and how much better Efffact the howe cut the Voice has. The Compontions, inflead of loping, acquire thereby greater Beauty.
30. Let the Naker infract him in the Forte and Fiat, but fo as to

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { ENe.Ese for te Smataid, Ligature, or } \end{aligned}
$$

$$
\left[6_{3}\right]
$$

ufe him more to the firft than the fecond, it being eafier to make one fing roft than loud. Experience fhews that the Piano is not to be trufted to, fince it is prejudicial though pleaing ; and if any one has a Mind in lofe his Voice, let him try it. On this Subject fome are of Opinion, that there is an artificial Piano, thit can make itfelf be heard as much as the Forte ; but that is only Opinion, which is the Mother of all Errors. It is not Art which is the Caufe that the Piano of a good Singer is heard, but the profound Silence and Attention of the Audience. For a Proof of this, let any indifferent Singer be filent on the Stage for a Quarter of a Minute when he fhould fing, the Audience, curious to know the Reafon of this unexpected Paufe, are hufh'd in fuch a Manner, that if in that Inftant he utter one Word with a ioft Voice, it would be heard even by thofe at the greateft Diftance.
§ 31. Let the Mafter remember, that whofoever does not fing to the $\mathrm{F}_{2}$ utmort amon Rigour of Time, deferves not the Efteem of the Judicious; thererome let him take Care, there be no Alteration or Diminution in it, if he pretends to teach well, and to make ..n excellent Scholar.

$$
[64]
$$

§32. Though in certain Schools, Bouts of Church-Mufick and or $M a$ aright's lie buried in Duff, a good M after would wipe it off; for they ate the mon effectual Means to make a Scholar ready and fore. If Singing was not for the not part performed by Memory, as is cuftomary in the ie Dire, I doubt whether certain Proforbore could defies the Name of Singers of the fit Rank.
-33. Let him encourage the Sohoan. it he implores; let him mortify him, whout Beating, for Indolence; let him be more rig rows for Negligenes; nu lat the Scholar tier § 32. A1.... gat. are Paces in feveral Parts; $\therefore$ ant Prance were about threefore Years a, the the Gers bean to the in Vogue, and ged Shuck and the Knowledge of it se gan to celina.
end

[65]

end a Leffon without having profited fomething.
§34. An. Hour of Application in a Day is not fufficient, even for one of the quickeft Apprehenfion ; the Mafter therefore fhould confider how much more Time is neceffary for one that has not the fame Quicknefs, and how much he is obliged to confult the Capacity of his Scholar. From a mercenary Teacher this neceffary Regard is not to be hoped for; expected by other Scholars, tired with the Fatigue, and follicited by his Neceffitues, he thinks the Month long; looks on his Watch, and goes away. It he be but poorly paid for his Teachi:

[ 66 ]

FBext

C H A P. V.

Of Recitative.
Den THATIE is of three Kinds, and ought to be twught in three different Manners.
§ 2. The frit, keing ufedin Churches, fhoult be fung as becomes the Sanctity of the Place, which does not adnuit thofe wanton Graces of a lighter Sile; bue requites fome Mefia di Voor, mony Atposa itura's, and a noble Maienty throuo i-sut. But the Art of ex: rining i . is not to be learned, bue from the ffecting Manner of ture who e vontlv dedicate their V. is to the Suvin of God.
j. The fecond is Theatrical, wiich being always accompanied with with Action by the Singer, the Mafter is obliged to teach the Scholar a certain natural Imitation, which cannot be beautiful, if not expreffed with that Decorum with which Princes ipeak, or thofe who know how to feak to Princes.

[67]

§4. The laft, according to the Opimion of the moft Judicious, touches the Heart more than the others, and is called Recitativo di Camera. This requires a more peculiar Skill, by reafon of the Words, which being, for the moft part, adapted to move the moft violent Pallions of the Soul, oblige the Mafter to give the Scholar fach a lively Impreffion of them, that he may feem to be affected with them himfelf. The Scholar having fnimed his Studies, it will be but too
§ 4. Mufica di Camrra. Chamber, or privaic, Mufick; where the Mutitude is not courted for Apmlaufe, but only the true J", ?es; and confints chiefy in Cantata's, Duetto's, &c. In the Recitative of Cantata's, our A.thir excelled in a fingular Manner for the patiencick Exprefion of the Words.

[68]

eafly difovered if he ftands in Need of this Leffon. The vaft Delight, which the Judicious feel, is owing to this particular Excellence, which, wi hout the Hol? of the ufual Ornaments, produces all this Pleafure from itelf; and, let Truth prevail, where Pä̈on fraks, all Shakes, all DiviFons and Graces ought to be filent, leaving it to the fole Force of a beautiful Exprefion to perfuade.
§ $:$. The Churci Recitative yields more Liberty to the Singer than the other two, particularly in the final Cadence; provided he makes the Advantage of it that a Singer fhould co, and not as a Player on the Vici:is.

6 6. The Theatrical leaves it not in cur Eitction to make Ufe of this Art, let we offend in the Narrative, which ought to be natural, unlefs in a. Solilogury, where it may be in the Stile of Chamber-Nufick.
§ 7. The third abitains from great Purt of the Sclemnity of the firft, and con-

[ 69 ]

contents itfelf with more of the fe. cond.
§ 8. The Defects and unfufferable Abules which are heard in Recitatiecs, and not known to thofe who commit them, are innumerable. I will take Notice of feveral Theatrical ones, that the Matter may correct them.
$ 9. There are fome who fing $R e-$ citutive on the Stage like That of the Church or Chamber; fome in a pervetual Chanting, which is infufferable; fome over-do it and make it a Barking ; fome whifper it, and fome fing it confufedly; fome force out the laft Syllable, and fome fink it; fome fing it bluft'ring, and fome as if they were thinking of fomething elfe; fome in a languifhing Manner ; others in a Hurry; fome fing it through the Teeth, and others with Affectation; fome do not pronounce the Words, and others do not exprefs them; fome fing it as if laughing, and fome crying ; fome fpeak it, and fome hifs it; fome hullow, bellow, and ling it out Oi of Tune; and, together with their CAnces againit Nature, are guilty of the greatelt Fault, in thinking themlelves above Corretion.

$$
[70]
$$

10. The modern Mafters run cre with Negligence their Inftructions in all Sorts of Recitativer, becaute in thefe Days the Study of Exremon is loosed upon as unneceffary, recociled as ancient: And yet they mut neess fee every Day, that beindes the indifenfible Neceffity of knowing how to fing them, Thefe tren teach how to act. If they will not believe it, let them obferve, withcut flattering themfelves, if among their Pupils they can thew an Actor of equal Merit with Cortona in the Tender; * of Baron Balarini in the Imperious; or other famous Actors that at prefent appear, tho' I name them not; having determined in there Obiervations, not to mention any that are living, in whatfoever Degree of Perfection they be, though $l$ elteem them as they deferve.
810. Cortra liv'd above forty Years aqo. Efura, in Eervice at the Court of Lienna, r. ctir Esum: wh the Emperor Yofoph, who macatima Earon.

[71]

§ II. A Mafter, that difregards Recitative, probabiy does not underftand the Words, and then, how can he ever inftruct a Scholar in Expreffion, which is the Soul of vocal Performance, and without which it is impofthle to fing well? Poor Gentlemen Hiffers, who direct and inftruct Begimers, without reflecting on the utter Deftruaction you bring on the cience, in undermining the principal Foundations of it! If you know not at the Recitatives, efpecially in the culgar or known Language, require thofe Inftructions relative to the Force of the Words, I would advife you to renounce the Name, and Office of Meffers, to thofe who can maintain them; your Scholars will otherwife be made a Sacrifice to Ignorance, and not knowing how to diftinguifh the Lively from the Pathetick, or the Vehement from the Tender, it will he no wonder if you fee them ftupid on the Staze, and fenfelefs in a Chamber. To feak my Mind freely, Yurs and their Faults are unparcocoble; it is infufferble to be any lunge tomented in the Theatres with Rocitattois, fung in the Stile of : Choir of Captotin Friars. F 12 . The Rearion, however, of not sing mote Exprefion to the RccitoFs, in the Manner of thofe called litients, does not always proceed ficm the Incapacity of the Mafter, or the Negligence of the Singer, but from the little Knowledge of the nodim Compoters, (we muft except iome of Menit; who fet it in fo unnatural a Taite, that it is not to be taught, acted or tung. In Juftification of the Mater and the Linger let Reafon decide. To blame the Compofer, the fame Reafor forbids me entering into a Matter too high for my low Undertanding, and wiely bids me confider the little Infight I can boalt of, barely fufficient for a Singer, or to wite pain Counterpoint. But when I conflier I have undertaken in thete

[ $7^{2}$ ]

[73]

Obfervations, to procure diverfe Advantages to vocal Performers, thould I not ipeak of Compuition, a Subject 6) neceflary, I hould be gailty of a (iouble Fault. My Doubs in tins Puplexity are refolved by the ReRation, that Rucitatiocs have noReman to Comerpoint. If That be fo, what Profefior hoows not, that many theatrical Ratiaties woald be exchene if they were not contapd ane win another; if they cond bolcarnat by Hant; is they were not deashe in reifer of adaptirg the Ma: inch to the Words; if they did no: thenen thofe who fing them, ate Cul them, with whathal Shas; is Wh the wort Modotans; if the at mot higat : g ord Tate with . pawtal smons ir, with their creCThens ade Change of Keys, they wist piore one coto Hear ; ant, Antly, if the Perious wae not crippled by them: who know neither Point nor Comme? I am afonincal that fuch as thefe do not, for their Improvement, G endeáendeavour to imitate the Recitatives of thofe Authors, who reprefent in them a lively Image of Nature, by Sounds which of themfelves exprefs the Senfe, as much as the very Words. But to what Purpole do I fhew this Concern about it? Cin I expect that thefe Reafons, with all their Evidences, will be found good, when, even in regard to Mufick, Reafon itfelf is no more in the Mode? Cuftom has great Power. She arbitrarily releafes ber Followers from the Obfervance of the true Rules, and obliges them to no other Study than that of the Ritornello's, and will not let them ufeleflly employ their precious Time in the Application to Recitative, which, according to her Precepts, are the work of the Pen, not of the Mind. If it be Negligence or Ignorance, I know not; but I know very well, that the Singers do not find their Account in it.

[ 74 ]

§ $\mathrm{I}_{\hat{3}}$. Much more might fill be § 13. See Broken Cażences, PI. V. Numb. r. ——inal Cadences, Pl. V. Numb. 2. faid faid on the Compofitions of Recitative in general, by reafon of that tedious chanting that offends the Ear with a thoufand broken Cadences in every Opera, which Cuftom has eftablifhed, though they are without Tafte or Art. To reform them all, would be worfe than the Difeafe; the introducing every time a final Cadence would be wrong: But if in thefe two Extremes a Remedy were neceffary, I hould think, that among an hundred broken Cadences, ten of them, briefly terminated on Points that conclude a Period, would not be ill employed. The Learned, however, do not declare themfelves upon it, and from their Silence I muft hold myfelf condemned.

$$
\text { [ } 75 \text { ] }
$$

§ 14. I return to the Mafter, only to put him in Mind, that his Duty is to teach Mufick; and if the Scholar, before he gets out of his Hands, does not fing readily and at Sight, the Innocent is injured without Remedy from the Guilty.

$$
G_{2} \quad \S I 5
$$

$$
[-6 i
$$

31 If ate the f Imeructions, the in: com numatige to his Scholar Tais orem: Ament, and what Buy Can the fund Progref, he :rt mandacty a initiate him in $\therefore$ ane : ach-hirs, in which He mat lo y $\therefore$ an an the trial triazine sower, and ling in a was: tie: $\therefore$ which Purpose he $\because$ an man wi umuent nat hal Wa... Motet; ", grand and gented, meted with the Lively and the Bathetics, adapted to the Ability he has dowered in bim, and by frequent Lemmas make him become percet in them with Readiness and Spirit. At the fame time he nut be careful that the Wore be well pronounced, ind perfectly underfood; that the Reitatices be expreffed with Strength, and bupored without Affectation; tan: in the Alas he be not wanting in Time, and in moroturng dome Graces anon Tate: am, above all, that

- is ai ta, or humor.

[ 77 ]

the final Cadences of the Motets be puformed with Divifions dititinct, wift, and in Tune. After this he will tech nim that Manner, the Tafte of Cutata's requires, in order, by this Lierife, to difcover the Difference bethien one Stile and another. If, atier this, the Mafter is fatisfied with bis Scholar's Improvement, yet let him not think to make him fing in Puiblick, before he has the Opinion er luch Perfons, who know more of finging than of thattering; becaufe, they not only will chufe fuch Compheners proper to do him Honour .nd Credit, but alfo will correct in fim thofe Defeets and Errors, which at of Overfight or Ignorance the Tinter had not perceived or corruted.
§ 16. If Mafters did confatr, that irim our firft appeating in the Face of the World, depends our acquiring Fanc and Courage, they would not to bindly expofe their Pupils to the D.isger of falling at the inft Step.

$$
\text { G }_{3} \quad $ 1
$$

$$
\left[7^{8}\right]
$$

817. But if the Mafter's Knowledje extends no firtine: than the foresaing Rules, then ought he in conFience to defift, and to recommend the Scioler to better Infructions. Howere:, betore the Scholar arrives at ins, it wh not be quite unneceffuy to bicoure witl him in the Fowing Comtes, and if his Age amits him not to woderfand me, ther, who have the Care of him, may.

CHAP.

[79]

CHAP. VI.
Obfervations for a Student. tenfive and difficult Study of the Florid, or figured Song, it is neceflary to confult the Scholar's Genius; for if Inlimation oppofes, it is impoffible to force it, and when That incites, the Scholar proceeds with Eafe and Pleature.
§ 2. Suppofing then, that the Scholar is earneftly defirous of becoming a Mafter in to agreable a Profefion, and being fully inftructed in thefe tirefome Rudiments, befides many others that may have flipt my weak Memory ; after a ftrict Care of his Morals, he thould give the ref of his Attention to the Study of finging in Derfucion, that by this Means he may de fo happy as to join the moft noble Qualitics of the Soul to the Excellencies of his Art.

[80]

§3. He that ftudies Singing muft confider, that Praife or Difgrace depends very much on his Voice, which if he has a Mind to preferve, he muft abftain from all Manner of Diforders, and all violent Diverfions.
§4. Let him be able to read perfectly, that he may not be put to Shame for fo icandalous an Ignorance. Oh, how many are there, who had need to leam the Alphabet!
§ 5. In cafe the Mafter knows not Low to correct the Faults in Pronunciation, let the Scholar endeavour to learn the beft by fome other Means; becaufe, the not being born

[^3]$$
[8 \mathrm{I}]
$$
in Tufcany, will not excure the Singer's Imperfection.
§6. Let him likewife very carefully endeavour to correct all other Faults that the Negligence of his Mafter may have paffed over.
§ 7. With the Study of Mufick, let him learn alfo at leaft the Grammar, to underftand the Words he is to fing in Churches, and to give the proper Force to the Expreffion in both Languages. I believe I may be fo bold to fay, that divers Profeffors do not even undertand their own Tongue, much lefs the Latin.
§ 8. Let him continually, by himfelf, ufe his Voice to a Velocity of Motion, if he thinks to have a Command over it, and that he may not go by the Name of a pathetick Singer.
§ 9 . Let him not omit frequently to put forth, and to ftop, the Voice, §7. The Church-Mufick in Italy is all in Latin, except Oratorij's, which are Entertainments in their Churches. It is therefore neceffary to have fome Notion of the Latin Tongue. that thet it malways be at his Command.

Eta. Let him repeat his Leflon at heme, til he knows it perfectly; andon iocl homort let himrean is, tore bis Mafer the Trouble - Teciona, wad himfelf of fuaying Fownem.
E: t bage raguire of prician Ancala, the me mult foudy with W. Na?, wen ack camot whe the Wos.
5iz. The unwewed Stedy of Youth is ane to evercome all Obftaces then mper, theugh Defects were fuck in with our Miother's Milk. The Opmina of mine is fubicat to heraz Obeations; however, Eratrience will defe 3 it, povided Gegoove hmelt in tace. But if $\vdots$ IV Lethom Duer ar med as he Gat to wot cributed Singers, and Haeribe inem ftexcellut intrumentu: Paffrmers; lecank, from the ANuntan in huming then, one ras mure Advantage than from any Initre 8 ion whatioen:

$$
\left[8_{3}\right]
$$

6. 14. Iet him enseavour to copy anis Boh, that he may infenfibly, the the tudy of cthers, get a good Tate. This Sdvice, tiough extreme1. uifeful to a Student, is notwithitsoding infinitely prejudicial to a ygr, as I thall fhew in its proper 11, い。
$ 15. Let him often fing the mort urable Compofitions of the beft Aufirs, and accultom the Ear to that which pleafes. I'd have a Student know, that by the abovementioned Witations, and by the ldea of good Compufitions, the Tafte in Time becones Art, and Art Nature.
§16. Let him learn to accompany inimelf, if he is ambitious of finging well. The Harpichord is a great Incitement to Studr, and $\cdots$, we contina:dy impore a er Kiowiedge. The evident Advantage mifing to the

Sr. Th fot Cwainn am? imitating injuicioufly the Infumental with the Voice.

Singer

$$
\left[s_{4}\right]
$$

Singer from that lovely Inftrument, maize: is rupernuous to fay more on that Head. Iioreover, it often hapfens to one who cannot play, that without the Help of another he cannot be heard, and is thereby to his shome obliged to deny the Com:ards of thofe whom it would be $\because$ his Advantage to obey.
$\therefore \div$. Till a Singer pleafes himfelf, $\therefore$ is ceutain he camot pleafe others. Therefore conider, if fome Profeffors ri ao inall sisil have not this Pleaare Fonman of incient Application, Wat mat the Echolar do? Studv, - -an budy áan, and not be fatif$\therefore$.

5: Y. I ma almatio of Opinion, that an sonem Ene earours to fing are is mot accompanied as an $\because \therefore$. Knowledge of Countu: S... On, who Hows how to $\therefore 2 \mathrm{a}$, onn womet for what he dues, and he, who has not the fame Light, works in the Dark, not knowing how to fing withcut committing limors. The moft famous Ausionts bow the intrinick Value of this Precept from the Effects. And a god Scholar ought to imiate them, without confidering whether this Lefin be according to the Mode or not. For though, in thefe Days, one now ind then hous admirable Perforanaces, procecting from a matural Chte, yet they are all done by Chance, but where that finfe is wating, it they are not execrable, at lean they sili be very bad: For Fortune nor bing always at their Command, they annot be fure to agree, neicher with Thie nor Hamony. This Knowdge although requifite, I would not however advile a Scholar to give h:mfifi up to an intenie Application, is being certain, I thould teach him the readieft way to lofe his Voice; but I exhort him only to learn the princ:$\mathrm{H} \quad \mathrm{pal}$ pl Rules, that he may not be quite in the Dots.

[ 85 ]

[ 86 ]

Sin. To body much, and prefers a VOa in full Beauty, are two Thine mon incompatible; there is bursae: them much a fort of Amity, as corot in wit, bet ing prejudical to the one or the other: Howover, formerevi, that l'effection in a Voe is a Gift of Nature, and in Art a portal Acquifition, it will indeed be chowed, that this latter excelt in Merit, and more deferves our Praise.
& $2=$. Whoever ftudies, let him bo k for what molt excellent, and Let him look for it wherever it is, without tocuoing himself whether it be in the sale of fifteen or theniv Years as, of in that of the ie 1)..y: fo. of l Ages have their good and bad Productions. It is enough to find out the beth, and profit by then:
§2f. To my irreparable Misfortune, iune, I am old ; but were I young, I woald imitate as much as poflibly I could the Cantabile of thofe who are branded with the opprobrious Name of Ancients; and the Allegro of thofe who enjoy the delightful Appellation of Moderis. Though my Wifh is vin as to myfelf, it will be of Ufe to a prudent Scholar, who is defirous to be expert in both Manners, which is wiconly way to arrive at Perfection; but if one was to chufe, I fhould freely, without Fear of being tax'd with Partiality, advife him to attach himfelf to the Talte of the firf.

[ 87 ]

§ 22. Each Manner of Singing hath a different Degree of Eminence; the Nervous and Strong is diftinguihed from the Puerile and Weak, as is the Noble from the Vulgar.
§ 23. A Student muft not hope for Applauie, if he has not an utter Abhorrence of Ignorance.

Pathetick: more Sinjing than Alle: $\%$, which is Lively, Brisk, Gay, and more in the execut!e Way.

$$
\mathrm{H}_{2}
$$

§24.
$\therefore 2 \div$. Whocerer does not afpire $t$, We Fit Ronk, hegins already to give ip the ium and and by litele and litile iili reit contented with the loweft.

Sz. It, cat or a putioular IndulGrce to the Sex, or mamale Sing$\therefore$ : have the Gaces et down in Whitha, one that itulacs on become a mod Singer thould int follow the Fwnote where automohmielf th hare There fot in his Mouth, wh have no Invention, and bucomes a Slave to his Memory.
$$ 26$. If the Scholar thould have ary Defects, of the Nofe, the Throat, or of the Ear, let him never fing Gat when the Maiter is by, or fomebody thi: underfands the Profeffion, in ouder to correat him, otherwie he will get an ill Habit, patt all Reredy.
27. Whan he ftudies his Jention $\because$ Hone, let him fometimes fing bebe a L Loking-qlats, not to be cnamoned with his own Perfon, but to -rid thole corvalive Motions of the Body,

D, dy, or of the Face (for fo I call the Grimaces of an affected Singer) which, when once they have took Footing, never leave him.
$$ 28$. The befit Time for Study is with the rifing of the Sun; but those, who are obliged to ftudy, mut em. ny all their Time which can be farad from their other neceffary Affurs.
§27. After a long Exercise, and the Attainment of a true Intonation, of a Mejia di Vole, of Shakes, of Divisions, and Recitative well exprofiled, if the Scholar perceives that Its Miner cannot teach tim all the Iericticn of Execution required in the more :efined Art of ringing the Airs, or a he cannot always be by his Side, then will he begin to be fencible of the Need he has of that Study, in which the bert Singer in the World is fill a Learner, and muff be his own Matter. Suppofing this, Reflection jut, I advife him for his frit Iright, to read the following Chapter, in order thereby to reap greater Advantage from tho e that can ling the Airs, and Ah in far them,

CHAP:

[ 9I]

C H A P. VII.

Of Airs.
 F whoever introduced the Cufom of repeating the firtt Part of the Air, (which is called Da Capos did it not of a Motive to fhew the Capacity of the Singer, in varying the Repeution, the lnvention cannot be blim'd hy Lovers of Mufick; though in repeit of the Wrords it is fometimes an Impropriety.
§ 1. Suppefe the firft Part expreffed Anger, and the lecend relented, and was to exprefs Pity or Compafion, he muft be andery a? in in the $D_{\text {: }}$ ( $C$. $f$. This often happene, and i, very ridicu'rits if not done to a real Pupofe, and that the Subuet and Poct:y require it.

$$
\int 2
$$

[92]

§ 2. By the Ancients beforementoned, Airs were fug in three differment limners; for the Theatre, the Stile was lively and various; for the Chamber, delicate and finih'd; and for the Church, moring and grave. This Difference, to very many $M$ odons, is quite uncrown.

A Singer is under the greatest OL: nation to the End of the Airs; Io: By them tine gains or lobes his Rerotation. To the acquiring this vatuLb: $A r$, a Sew verril Teflons cannot mize ; yo would is be of any great Pret the Scholar, to have a great Number of Airs, in which a Thouint withe mon exquinte Paflages of danes ins were written down: Eu: the: b.c.linat live for all PutFate, an the rs would always be yang that Syst which accompaVies extempore Performances, and is federate to all - le Imitations. All (I think) nat co.. be fid, is to re-

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \therefore \because \because \text { anowid Harmony and Conn- }
\end{aligned}
$$

[93]

commend to him an attentive Obfervation of the Art, with which the beft Eingers regulate themfelves to the Bais, whereby he will become acquainted wih their Perfections, and improve wy them. In o:der to make his Obmations wish the greater Exactnefs, lot him follow the Example of a Friend of mine, who never went to an Opera without a Copy of all the Evag, and, oblerving the fineft Graies, confin'd to the mof exact Time of the Movement of the Bafs, he made thereby a great Progrefs.
§ 4. Among the Things worthy of Confideration, the firft to be taken Notice of, is the Manner in which all Airs divided into three Parts are to be fung. In the firft they require nothing but the fimpleft Ornaments, of a good Tafte and few, that the Compolitivi may remain fimple, plain, whd pure ; in the fecond they expect, that to this Purity fome artful Gra-

[^4]aces be added, by which the Judicious may hear, that the Ability of the Singe: is acuter; and, in repeating the Ah, be that dues not vary it for the Enter, ionogeat Mattie.

5 5. Leta student the fore ascotam hemet to rebut them awn difernte, for, if I mind enow me that abounds in Inventive, though a moderate Sher: defers much more Elton, thana rene who ia karen Git; forth ...in ale ares the Comorolours but for c.ace, whereas the other, if he does not furpiie by the Rarerefs of his Productions, will at learnt gratify your Attention with Variety.
§ 6 . The molt celebrated among the Ancients piqued themfelves in vafrying ever Dight their Songs in the Operas not only the Pathetick, but ais the Aligns. The Student, who is not will Erande?, como undertasse the ingormat Tain.

ह ; Whee a Decane to our Author, it :-y . . . . : t. Affectation of Singing wi $\because$ os concur very much to the atocerance Tune
§ 7 .

[95]

$7. Without varying the Girs, the Knowledge of the Singers could never be difoovered; but from the Na ture and Quality of the Variations, it will be eafily difcerned in two of the greateft Singers which is the beft.
§8. Returning from this Digreffion to the above-mentioned repeating the firt Part of the Air with Variation, the Scholar will therein find out the Rules for Gracing, and introducing Beauties of his own Invention: Thefe will teach him, that Time, Taite, and Skill, are fometimes of hut finall Advantage to one who is not ready at atempore Embellifiments ; but they thouid not allow, that a Superfluity of them fhould prejudice the Connpontion, and confound the Ear.
§9. Let a Scholar provide himfelf with a Variety of Graces and EmbelWifnments, and then let him make ufe of them with Judgment; for if he §8. Continuation of the general dividing firs in & t. The End of thi, Section is a fatonable Corr ctive of the Rule preferiled in the foregoing fifth Section.
obferves, coerces, be will find that the mort celebrated Singers never make a Paride of their Talent in a few Songs; well homs, that if Singers expofe to the Publicts all they have in their Shore, they are near becoming Bankrusts.
tic. In the Study of Aires, as I have before wa, one cannot tasse Pans enough; fris, thous certain Thing of mail Eftut may be omittex. vet how con the dit be called rect if the Fnma is wanting?
& if. In div accompanied ont wi a Bat, the Application of him wo mates Graces i- only fibjećt to Time, and to the Ear; bat ia thole, that are accomand with more Inframers, the Fug mutt be alto attentive to then <compat>Novement, in order t) aroid the Ewers committed by there who we danone of the Conthrace of wei documpmbert.
I2. T Peanaborl res sup a imaging the AiM, I would Prongfy inculcate to a Student, first, never to give ore puctime in private, till he is fecure of committing no Error in Publick; and next, that at the frof Rehearfal the Airs be fung without any other Ornaments than thofe which are very natural; but with a frict Attention, to examine at the fame time in his Mind, where the artificial ones may be brought in with Propriety in the fecond; and fo from. one Rehearfal to another, always varying for the better, he will by Degrees become a great Singer.

[ 97 ]

$13. The moft neceflary Study for finging Airs in Perfection, and what is more difficult than any other, is of feek for what is eafy and natural, as well as of beautiful Inventions. One who has the good Fortune to unite two fuch rare Talents, with an agreeable futting fort's of the Voice, is a very happy Singer.
§ 14. Let him, who fudies under the Difadvantage of an ungratefal Genius, remenber for his Comfort, that inging in Tune, Expreffion, Meifa di Voce, the Appoggiatura's, Sbuk? Divifions, and accompanying himeli, are

[93]

are the principal Qualifications; and no foch infuperable Difficulties, but what may be overcome. I know, they are not sufficient to enable one to fang in Perfection; and that it would be Wemecis to content one's fell with orly imaging tolerably well; but Embelinments nat be called in to their aid, which flltom refuse the Call, and fomerimcs come unfought. study will do the Buinetis.
si 5. Let him avoid all thole Abuwhich have overspread and eftaWhen themselves in the Airs, if he wa preierve Munich in its Charity.
$16. Not only a scholar, but every Seeger ought to forbear Caricatura's, © mimicking other, from the very Fa Comequence that attend them. Ti) mike char: laugh, hardly gains wo Ellen, but certainly gives heres; for ro-body likes to appear W. .zeus or ignorant. This Mimics. a amis for the mott fart from a - accused Ambition to fine their Merit, at another's Expence; \%. : whipt a Mixture of Envy and sight.

[ 99 ]

Spight. Examples fhew us but too plainly the great Injury they are apr to do, and that it well deferves Reproof; for Mimickry has ruin'd more than one Singer.
§ 17. I cannot fufficiently recommend to a Student the exact keep$\operatorname{ng}$ of Time; and if I repear the ame in more than one Place, there is more than one Occafion that moves me to it; becaufe, even among the Profeffors of the firft Rank there are few, but what are almof infenfibly deceived into an Irregularity, or haftening of Time, and often of both; which though in the Beginning is hardly perceptible, yet in the Prozresis of the Air becomes more and more fo, and at the laft the Variation, nand the Error is difcovered.
§ 18 . If I do not advife a Student to imitate feveral of the Moderns in their Manner of finging Airs, it is from their Neglect of keeping Time, which ought to be inviolable, and not facrificed to their beloved Paflages and Divifions.

$$
I_{2} \quad \S I g
$$

[100 ]

$s$ :g. The Prefumption of fome Si, caper that an whole Orchefire thould ER A : the midt of a well-regulated Vhcrement, to wait for their illwomed Caprices, learned by Heart, curin from one Theatre to another, ad perhap thon from fome appauce fomale singer, who had betar Lack than Shill, and whofe Er. wa were excued in regard to her Ex.-Sortly, fotly with your Crithan, Ave one; this, if you do not have a, is called singing after the Xid.t - Singing after the Mode? -I I fay, you are mintaken. The it-ping in the Airs at every fecond not fourth, and on all the fevenths and fixths of the Bais, was a bad Padice of the ancient Mafters, difaproved Eify Years ago by Rivani, ched Ciontino *, who with invinci. We Reabo: hewed the proper Pla-

- ミra. Kizal, caita Cught, mult have What Trate on Thae, which is not beaconotim

[ 101 ]

ces for Embellifhments, without begging Paufes. This Precept was approved by feveral eminent Perfons, among whom was Signor Piftochi*, the moft famous of our, and

* Pifto:bi was very famous above fifty Years roo, and refined the Manner of finging in Ita, which was then a little crude. His Merit in this is acknowledged by all his Countrymen, contradicted by none. Briefly, what is recountcu of him, is, that when he firft appeared to the World, aind a Youth, he had a very fine treble $\because$ vice, admired and encouraged univerfally, but I a dinulute Life loft it, and his Fortune. Be$\therefore$ reduced to the utmoit Mifery, he entered it) the Service of a Compofer, as a Copyif, where he made ufe of the Opportunity of arning the Rules of Compofition, and became good Proficient. After fome Years, he reco$\because$ red a little Glimpfe of Voice, which by Jime and Practice turned into a fine Contr' Alto. Ifwing Experience on his Side, he took Care of ts, and as Encouragement came again, he took Sie Opportunity of travelling all Europe over, shere hearing the different Manners and Tafte, te appropriated then to himfelf, and furmed :at agreeable Mixture, which he produced in 2. u. $f$, where he was imitated and admired. He at laft patt many Years, when in an affluent "ontuns, at the Court of Aupait, where he hat

[102]

all preceding Times, who has made himfelf immortal, by fhewing the way of introducing Graces without tranfgreffing againft Time. This Example alone, which is worth a Thoufand, (O my rever'd Moderns!) fhould be $f$ fficient to undeceive you. But if this does not fatisfy you, I will add, that Sifacio * with his mellifluons Voice a Sticend, and lived an agreable eaíy Life; and at laft retired to a Convent in Italy. It has been remark ${ }^{2}$, that though feveral of his Difciples Bewed the Improvement they had from him, ret cthers macie an ill ufe of it, having not a Hate contributed to the Introduction of the moS:\% Talle.

* Siffaci, famous beyond any, for the moft filiguar Beanty of his Voice, His Manner of Siaging was remarkably plain, confifting particuarly in the Mefad di Voce, the putting forth his loice, and the Expreffion.

There is an Itailan Saying, that an hundred Periections are required in an excellent Singer, and te that hath a fine Voice has ninety-nine of then.
It is alio certain, that as much as is allotted to Voubility and Tricks, io much is the Beauty ot the Vicice facrificed; for the one cannot be dane without Prejudice to the other.

$$
\text { [ } 103 \text { ] }
$$

Voice embrac'd this Rule ; thatBuzzolini * of incomparable Judgment highly efteemed it: After them Luigino + with his foft and amorous Stile followed their Steps; likewife Signora Bofcbi $\ddagger$, who, to the Glory of her Sex, has made it appear, thatWomen, who ftudy, may inftruct even Men of fome Note. That Signora Lotti \|, ftrictly

Sifacio got that Name from his acting the Part of Syphax the firft time he appeared on the S:age. He was in England when famous, and belonged to King fames the Second's Chapel. After which he returned to Italy, continuing to be very much admired, but at laft was waylaid, and murthered for his Indifcretion.

* Buzzolini, the Name known, but no Particulars of him.
$\dagger$ Luigino, in the Service of the Emperor Fofeph, and a Scholar of Pifochi.
$\ddagger$ Signora Bocchi was over in England in Queen Anne's Time; fhe fung one Seation in the Opera's, returned to Venice, and left her Husband behind for feveral Years; he fung the Bafs. She was a Miftrefs of Mufick, but her Voice was on the Decay when fhe came here.
|| Santini, afterwards Signora Letti. She was famous above forty Years aggo, and appeared at feveral Courts in Gernany, where fhe was fent frictly keeping to the fame Rules, with a penetrating Sweetnefs of Voice, gained the Hearts of all her Hearers. If Perfons of this Rank, and others at prefent celebrated all over Europe, whom I forbear to name; if all thefe have not Authority enough to conrince you, that you have no Right to alter the Time by making Paufes, confider at leaft, that by this Error in refpect of Time, you often fall into a greater, which is, that the Voice remains unaccompanied, and deprived of Harmony; and thereby becomes flat and tirefome to the beft Judges. You will perhaps fay in Excufe, that few Auditors have this Difcern-for ; then retired to $F_{\text {cince, }}$, where fhe maried S:sin:r Lotti, Clapel-Mafter of St. Mark.

Ell thefe Singers, though they had a Talent particular to themeifes, they could, however, ting in feveral foris or Stile; on the contrary, cre finds few, but what attempt nothing that is out of their Way. A modern Singer of the good Stile, teing asked, whiether fuch and fuch Cumpofitions would not pleafe at prefent in Itoij? No coubt, faid te, they would, but where are the Singers that can fing them?
[105]
ment, and that there are Numbers of the others, who blindly applaud every thing that has an Appearance of Novelty. But whofe Fault is this? An Audience, that applauds what is blameable, cannot juftify your Faults by their Ignorance ; it is your Part to fet them right, and, laying afide your ill-grounded Practice, you fhould own, that the Liberties you take are againft Reafon, and an Infult upon all thofe inftrumental Performers that are waiting for you, who are upon a Level with you, and ought to be fubfervient only to the Time. In fhort, I would have you reflect, that the abovementioned Precept will always be of Advantage to you; for though under the neglecting of it, you have a Chance to gain Applaufe of the Ignorant only; by obferving it, you will juftly merit that of the Judicious, and the Applaufe will become univerfal.
§ 20. Befides the Errors in keeping Time, there are other Reafons, why a Student fhould not imitate the modern Gentlemen in finging Airs, fince it thinly appers that all their Application row is to divide and fubdivide A fuch a Nianter, that it is impofible to underfard cither Voras, Thioughts, o: Modulation, or to diftinguinh one A. from ancther, they finging them al fo much alise, that, in hearing of oae, ycu hear a Thouknd.-- And mutt the Mode triumph: It wo thought, not moyy Years ince, thet in an Opera, cree rumbling fir full of Divincrs was fufficient for the moft gurgling Sinzer to ipend his Fire *; but the Singers of the prefent Time are not of that Mind, but rather, as if they were not fatisfied with tranfForming them ail with a horrible Me. tarmorphofis into fo many Divifione, they, like Racers, run full Spect, with redoubled Volence to their final Cadences, to make Reparation for the Time they think they have loft during the Courfe of the Air. In the following Chapter, on the tormented and tortured Cadences, we fhall hortly fee the good Tafte of the Moa'e; in the mean while I return to the Abures and Defects in Airs.

$$
[106]
$$

ing

[ 107 ]

§ 2 I. I cannot poítively tell, who that Modern Compofer, or that ungrateful Singer was, that had the Heart to banih the delightful, foothing, Patbetick from Airs, as if no longer worthy of their Commands, after having done them fo long and pleafing Service. Whoever he was, it is cert.in, he has deprived the Profeffion of is moft valuable Excellence. Afk all the Muficians in gencral, what their Thoughts are of the Patbutick, they cll agree in the fame Opinion, (a thing thant feldom happens) and aniwer, that the Pathetick is what is mot delicious to the Ear, what moft fweetly affects the Soul, and is the ftronget Batis of Harmony. And muft we be deprived of thece Charms, without knowing the Reaiion why? Oh! I underitand you: I ought not to aik the Maí

[ 103]

Marters, but the Audience, thofe capricious Protectors of the Mode, that cannot endure this; and herein lies my Miftake. Alas! the Mode and the Multitude flow like Torrents, which when at their Height, having pent their Violence, quickly difapfear. The Mifchief is in the Spring itielf; the Fault is in the Singers. They praie the Pathetick, yet fing the Alugro. He mut want common Sene that dose not iee through them. They know the fime to be the moft Focellent, but they lay it afide, knowmg it to be the mof dificult.
$\bigcirc=2$. In fomio times divers Airs were sead in the Theatre in this deightful Mamer, preceded and accompried wich icmmonious and well-mocuate Irtitumeta, that ravifhed the Somes of the who comprehended the Contrume and the Melody ; and if fury b: ace of thole five or fix amireat Peran:- aburamentioncd, it was then imponimbera bumen Soul, not to melt into Tendernefs and Tears ficm the violent viction of the Affections tions. Oh' 1 werful Proof to corfound the do!n id Mode! Are thare in thefe Tirus any, who are moved with Tendernets, or Sonrow? -No, fay Il the Auditors) in) : for, the continall finging of the ATodras in the Aligro Stile, thouk whon in Perfeciha That deferves Admiration, ye: twanes very flinhtiy one that hath a dicate Ear. The Trite of the Andents was a Mixate of the $L$ Liely and the Cantabile, the Varicty of when cuald not fril giving Deight; but the Moderns are on pre-poffited wit Tare in Mok, that, ruther than comply with the forme:, they are contenta to lofe the areatefi iart of it; Beauty. The Sudy of the Potiotich was the Daning of the former; and Application to the moit dificult DiviBons is the only $D$ ifir of the latter. Thok perform'd wich more Judgment; and Thele execute with grearer Boldafis. But fince I have prefum'd to compare the moft celebrated Singers in buih ritles, pardon me if I conclude wih faying, that the Moderus are arK

[109]

rivel

[ 110 ]

rived at the higheft Degree of Perfection in finging to the Ear; and that the Ancients are inimitable in finging to the Heart.
§ 23 . Howere:, it ought not to be deniel, but that the beit Singers of thete then have in fome Particulars rhiesi the preceding Tatte, with fome Productions worthy to be imitated; and as an evident Mark of Efteem, we murt publickly own, that if they were but a little more Friends to the Pathetick and the Exprefive, and a little lefs to the Divifions, they might boatt of having brought the A:t to the highert Degree of Perfection.
§ 24 . It may alifo poffibly be, that the extiavagant Ideas in the prefent Compontions, have deprived the aiovementicned Singers of the Opportanity of hewing their Ability in the Ganiab:le; in as much as the Airs at prefent in vogue go Whip and Spur with fach violent Iotions, as take away their Breath, far from giving them them an Opportunity of fhewing the Exquifitenels of their Tafte. But, good God! fince there are fo many iizodern Compofers, among whom are tome of Genius equal, and perhaps greater than the beft Ancients, for what Reafon or Motive do they always exclude from their Compofitims, the fo-much-longed-for Adagio? Can its gentle Nature ever be guilty of a Crime? If it cannot gallop with the Airs that are always rumning Poft, why not referve it for thofe that require Repofe, or at leaft for a com:affionate one, which is to affift an infortunate Hero, when he is to Thed Tears, or die on the Stage? - No, sir, No; the grand Mode demands that he bequick, and ready to burnt himfelf in his Lamentations, and weep with Livelinefs. But what can one fay? The Refentment of the modern Tafte is not appeafed with the Sacrifice of the Patbetick and the Adagio only, two infeparable Friends, but goes fo far, as to prefcribe thofe Airs, as Confederates, that have not K 2 the

[111]

[ 112 ]

the Sharp third. Can any thing be more abfurd? Gentemen Compofers, (I do not feeak to the eminent, but with all due Refpect) Muifck in my Time has chang'd its Sile three times: The firt which pleafed on the Stage, and in the Chamber, was that of Pier. Simone ${ }^{*}$, and of Stradella $\dagger$; the fecond $\oint 2 \div$ Fitrre Simone Agofinini lived about thenecore Years ago. Several Cantata's of his Compofition are extant, fome of them very difficu!t, not from the Number of Divificns in the vcca! Part, bat from the Expreffion, and the furpifing Incidents, and alfo the Execution of the Bafies. He feems to be the firft that put Baffes with fo much Vivacity; for Cbarifimi before him compofed with more Simplicity, tho' he is reckored to be one of the firft, who enlivened his Mufick in the Movements of his Baffes. Oi Pierte-S:mone rothing more is known but that he loved his Botue, and when he had run ip a Bill in fome farcurite Place, te compofed a Cantata, and fent it to a certain Cardinal, who never faimed fending him a fixed Sum, with which he paid ofthis Score.
$\dagger$ Aieffandry Sirsis:la lived about Pier. Simone's Time, or very itite after. He was a moft exce:lent Compufer, fuperior in all Refpects to the foregeing, and endowed with diftinguibhing perfonal

[ H 3 ]

fecond is of the beft that are now living;
fonal Qualifications. It is reported, that his favourite Inftrument was the Harp, with which he fometimes accompanied his Voice, which was agreeable. To hear fuch a Compofer play on the Harp, muft have been what we can have no Notion of, by what we now hear. He ended his Life fatally, for he was murthered. The Fact is thus related. Being at Genoa, a Place where the Ladies are allowed to live with more Freedom than in any other Part of Italy, Stradella had the Honour of being admitted into a noble Family, the Lady whereof was a great Lover of Mufick. Her Brother, a wrongheaded Man, takes Umbrage at Stradella's frequent Vifits there, and forbids him going upun his Peril, which Order Stradella obeys. The Jady's Husband not having feen Stradella at his Houre for fome Days, reproaches him with it. Strudella, for his Excufe, tells him his Brother-:n-law's Order, which the Nobleman is angry with, and charges him to continue his Vifits as formerly; he had been there fcarce three or four Times, but one Evening going Home, attend©d by a Servant and a Lanthorn, four Ruffians ruhed out, the Lady's Brother one among them, and with Stiletts or Daggers fabb'd him, and left him dead upon the Place. The People of Genoa all in a Raye fought for the Murtherer, who was forced to fly, his Quality not being able to protect him. In another Account $\mathrm{K}_{3}$
of living *; and I leave others to judge whether they are Modern. But of your Stile, which is not quite eftablifhed yet in Italy, and which has yet gained no Credit at all beyond the Alps, thofe that come after us will foon give their Opinion ; for Modes laft not long. But if the Profeffion is to continue, and end with the World, either you yourfelves will fee your Miftake, or your Succeffors will reof him, this Patiticularity is mentioned ; that the Mu:derers purfued him to Ronne, and on Enquiry learned, that an Oratorio of his Compofition was to be performed that Evening; they went with an Intent to execute their Defign, but were fo moved with his Compofition, that they rather chofe to tell him his Danger, advifed him to cearart, and be upon his Guard. Bur, being purfued by others, he loft his Life. His Fate fas bsen lamented by every Body, efpeciailly by thofe who knew his Merit, and nore have thought him deferving fo fad a Cataftroph.

* When Tof writ this, the Compofers in Vosue were Scarlatti, Boinancini, Gaffarini, Marcizi, &c. The laft and modern Stile has p :etty weill fpead ifelf ail over 1 talk, and begins to Lave a grtat Tendency to the fame beyond tie fifis, as he cells it.
form

[ 115 ]

form it. Wou'd you know how? By banifhing the Abufes; and recalling the firt, fecond, and third Mood*, to relieve the fifth, fixth, and eighth, which are quite jaded. They will revive the fourth and feventh now dead to you, and buried in Churches, for the final Clofes. To oblige the Tafte of the Singers and the Hearers, the Allegro will now and then be mixed with the Patbetick. The Airs will not always be drowned with the Indifcretion of the Infruments, that hide the artful Delicacy of the Piano, and the foft Voices, nay, even all Voices which will not bawl: They will no longer bear being teafed with

* The Moods, here fpoken of, our Author has not well explained The Foundation be goes uponare the eight Church Mcods. But lis Meaning and Complaint is, that commonly the Compolitions are in $C$, or in $A$, with their Tranfpofitions, and that the others are not ufed or known. But to particularize bere what the Moods are, and how to be ufed, is impoffible, for that Branch only would require a large Treatife by itfelf.

UThi-

$\left[\begin{array}{ll}16]\end{array}\right.$

[\%ions *, the Invention of Ignorance, to hide from the Vulgar the Infufficiency and Inability of many Men and Women Singers: They will recover the intrumental Harmony now lott: They will compore more for the Tcice than the Inftruments: The part for the Voice will no more have the Mortification to refion its Place to the I'olins: The Seprans's and Contr'Al: will nomore fing the Airs in the Momer of the Bais, in Spight of a thomand $O$ abers: And, finally, their A:rs whl be move affecting, and lefs athe; more tudied and lefs painful Singer ; and fomuch the more aran, as they are remote from the Vulga. But, methinks, I hear it faid, that the theatrical Licence is great,

Abstract

- Tro $\therefore \because$, fre a Cuton with the Infru-   man ardve: cfen ti- Apolaufe fupportson The Romencol wave diftinguifh-  2f. Cara. Hos :t row at Romi is doub:Bu, vecur hot anar that there arc any Co-

[ ${ }^{117} 7$

and that the Mode pleafes, and that I grow too bold. And may I not reply, that the Abufe is greater, that the Invention is pernicious, and that my Opinion is not fingular? Am I the only Profefior who knows that the heft Compofitions are the Caufe of finging well, and the work very premutcial? Have we not more than ince hoard that the Quality of the Componitions has been capable, wih a few Songs, of ettablinhing the Reputation of a middling Singer, and deferoyingThat of one who had acquired one by Merit? That Mufick, which is compoied by one of Judgment and Tafte, inftructs the Scholar, perfects the Skilful, and deiights the Hearer. Bat fince we have opened the Bail, let us dance.
§ 25. He toat firft introduced Mufick on the Stage, probably thought to lead her to a Triumph, and raife her to a Throne. But who would ever have imagined, that in the fhort Courfe of a few Years, fee fhould be reduced to the fatal Circumftance of feeing

[ 118 ]

reeing her own Tragedy? Ye pompua Fabricks of the Theatres! We Erouh lock upon you with Horror, being raifed from the Ruins of Harmony: You are the Origin of the Abufes, and of the Errors: From You is derived the mokern Stile, and the Nultitude of Billad-makers: You are the cnly Occafon of the Scarcity of udicous and well-grounded Profefions, who juth:y deferse the Title of Chapel-VIafter ; fince the poor Countepoint + has been condemned, in this cormpted Age, to beg for a Piece of Bread in Churches, whilit the Ignorance of many exults on the Stage, the moft pat of the Compoiers have been prompted from Avarice, or Indigence, to abandon in fuch Manner the true Study, that one may forefee if not Core, the hemen Tite betonging to a Mafter c: Musck. Even now the singers in Italy give the Compofers of Opera's the Title or Ka ilut as a Mark of their Submiffion. - Courat, Counterpoint, or Note againd Nc:e, tue frlt Ruüments of Compofition.

fuccoured

[ 119 ]

fuccoured by thofe few, that ftill gloriounly fuftain its deareft Precepts) Mufick, after having loft the Name of Science, and a Companion of Philofophy, will run the Rifque of being reputed unworthy to enter into the facred Temples, from the Scandal given there, by their Jiggs, Minuets, and Furlana's * and, in fact, where the Tafte is fo deprav'd, what would make the Difference between the Church-Mufick, and the Theatrical, if Money was received at the Church Doors?
§ 26. I know that the World honours with juft Applaule fome, tho' few Mafters, intelligent in both

* Furlana. A fort of a Country Dance, or Cingbire-Round.

It is reported, that the Church-Mufick in Italy, far from keepin's that Majefty it ought, is vaitly abufed the other way; and fome Singcrs have had the Impuderice to have other Wiords put to favourite Opera Airr, and fung them in Churclics. Thic Abu'e is not new, for St. Augufinu complains of it; and Palefitina prevented in his Tlime Mulick from being barifich the Churches.

Stiles,

$$
[120]
$$

Stiles, to whom I direct the Students, in order to their finging well; and if I confine the Mafters to fo fmall a Number, I do beg Pardon of thofe who fhould be comprehended therein; hoping eafily to obtain it, becaufe an involuntary Error does not offend, and an eminent Perfon knows no other Envy but virtuous Emulation. As for the Ignorant, who for the moft part are not ufed to indulge any, but rather defpife and hate every thing they do not comprehend, they will be the Perfons from whom I am to expect no Quarter.
§ 27. To my Misfortune, I afked one of this fort, from whom he had learned the Counterpoint? he anfwered immediately, from the Inftrument. (i. e. the Harpfichord) - Very well. I afked farther, in what Tone have you compofed the Introduction of your Onera : -... What Tone! what Tone! (breaking in :ron me abruptly) with what mus Queftions are you going to ar is my Brains? One may eafily percsive frum what Echool you come. The Moderns, if you do not know it, acknowledge no other Tone bri one ; they laugh, with Reafon, at the filly Opinion of thofe who imagine there are two, as well as at thofe who maintain, that their being divided into Autbentick and Plagal, they become Eight, (and more if there were need) and prudently leave it to every body's Pleafure to compofe as they like befi. The World in your Time was afleep, and let it not difpleafe you, if our merry and brifk Manner has awakened it with a Gayety fo pleafing to the Heart, that it wites one to dancs. I would have you likewife be livily before you die, and, abandeni: $g$ your uncouih Idca:, make it appear, that cld Age can be pleafed with the Productions of Youth; other-§ $27^{}$ Tono, or Mood. and fometimes means the Key. Our Author iis t'. is Section is fond of a Pun, which cannot well be tran!ated. Tono is fometimes writ fruono, and Tiono fignifies Thunder; therefore the Ignorant audwers, he knows no other Tuono but that which is preceded by Lightning.

[ 121]

L
wife

Wite you will find, that you will be condemned by your own Words, that Izoornce hates all that is excellent. The polite Arts have advanced contwally in Refinement, and if the reft were to give me he Lie, Mufick would defend me Sword in Hand; fa, le mot arrive at a higher Pitch. Aw...it therefore, an?, if you are not quite out of your Sente, hearken to me: and you what acknowledge that I peaks candidly to you ; and for a Prof, be it known to you s zs. That cur delicious Stile has been tented to hide with the fine Name of Modern the too difficult Rules of the Counterpoint, cannot be denied.
29. That there is an inviolable Rule among us, to binifh for ever the Pathetic, is very true; becaufe we will have no Melancholy.

822 . But, that we Mould be told if the ad Baflams, that we Arrive who can product mort extravagant Absurdities never heard before, and that we brag to be the Inventors of them them ourfelves, are the malign F.eficetions of thofe who fee us exalted. Let Envy burft. Youl fee, that the soneral Eateen which we have acyuired, give it for us ; and if in Mufician is not of our Tribe, he will find no Patron or Admirer. But Ance we are now feaking in Confidence and with Sincerity, who can fing or compofe well, whout our Approbation? Let them have ever fo much Uerit (you know it; we do not want - Leans to ruin him ; even a few Syllables will fuffice: It is only faying, He is an Ancient.

[ 123 ]

§ 3I. Tell me, I befeech you, who, without us, could have brought Mufick to the Height of Happinefs, with no greater Difficulty than taking from the Airs that tirefome Emulation of the firft and fecond Violin, an: of the Tenor? Is there any that ever dirlt ufurp the Glory of it? We, we are thofe, who by our Ingenuity have railed her to this Degree of Sublimity in taking alfo from her that noify murmuring of the fundamental Baffes,

$$
\mathrm{L}_{2} \quad \text { in }
$$

$$
[124]
$$

in fuch Manner, - (mark me well, and learn) that if in an Orcheftre there were an hundred Violins, we are capable of compofing in fuch a Manner, that all and every one fhall play the very fir which the Voice fings. What fiy you to that? Can you have the Face to find Fault with us?
§32. Mur moft lovcly Method; that cbiliges none of us to the painful Study of the Rules; which does not difquiet the Mind with the Anxiety of Speculation, nor delude us with the Study of reducing them inte Practice; that does not prejudice the Health; that enchants the Ear à la Moje; that finds thofe who love it, who prize it, and who pay for it the Weight in Gold; and dare you to criticife upon it?
$\S 33$. What fhall we fay of the obfcure and tedious Compofitions of thofe whom you celebrate as the Top of the Univerfe, tho' your Opinion goes for nothing? Don't you perceive that thofe old-fafhioned Crabbedneffes are difgufful? We fhould be great Fools

[125]

Fools to grow pale, and become paralytick in fudying and finding out in the Scores, the Harmony, the Fugues, their Reierfes, the Double Counterpoint, the Multiplication of Subjects, to contract them clofer, to make Canons, and fuch other dry Stuff, that are no more in Mode, and (what is worfe) are of little Efteem, and lefs Profit. What fay you now to this, Mafter Critick ? Have you comprehended me ?-_Yes, Sir. Well, what Anfwer do you make me? None.
§34. Really, I am aftonifhed, 0 beloved Singers, at the profound Lethargy in which you remain, and which is fo much to your Difadvantage. 'Tis You that ought to awaken, for now is the Time, and tell the Compofers of this Stamp, that your Defire is to Sing, and not to Dance.

$$
[126]
$$

C H A P. VIII.

Of Cadences*.

簊 1 rate the Airs, are of two Sorts. The Compofers call the one Suferior, and the other Inferigr. To make myfelf better underfiood by a Echolar, I mean, if a Cadence were in $C$ natural, the Notes of the firft would be $L a$, Sol, $F a$; and thofe of the fecond $F a$, Mi, Fa. In Airs for a fingle Voice, or in Recitatives, a Singer may chufe which of thefe Clofes or Cadences pleafes him beft ; but if in Concert

* Cadences ; or, principal Clofes in Airs.
§ I. For fuperior and inferior Cadences, fee PI. V. Numb. 3.

$$
\text { [ } 127 \text { ] }
$$

with other Voices, or accompanied with Inftruments, he muft not change the Superior for the Inferior, nor this with the other.
§ 2. It would be fuperfluous to fpeak of the broken Cadences, they being become familiar even to thofe who are not Profeffors of Mufick, and which ferve at mof but in Recitatives.
§3. As for thofe Cadences that fall a fifth, they were never compofed in the old Stile for a Soprano, in an Air for a fingle Voice, or with Inftruments, unlefs the Initation of fome Words had obliged the Compofer thereto. Yet thefe, having no other Merit, but of being the eafieft of all, as well for the Compofer as for the Singer, are at prefent the moft prevailing.
§4. In the Chapter on Airs, I have exhorted the Student to avoid that Torrent of Paffages and Divifons, § 2. Broken Cadences, fee Example, Chap. V. $$ 13$, and its Note.
§3. Cadences that fall a Fifth, with and withcut Words, PI. V. Numb. 4 and 5.

S much in the doit, and did engage myeli ah, to give my weak Sentinants on tio Gadmoes that are下e: coucat ; ind I am now ready: Bat bowera, whin the ntal Protiftation of fubmintiag them, with all my onew Orimins, to the Tribunal ofte Judicione and thase of Tathe from whence there is no Appeal; that finden may conswan the Abres of
 n) $\quad$ (-mion.

Erey Afrlat (at least) threc Cando thesure ill dme final. Gerondy pernie, the Study of the in tuanmatine tre Cund ofe of the firt Pu:t with an overthowing of Pafiges and $I$ ason at Piearure, and the Or, ceat waite; in that ci the fecond $\therefore \quad$ : $:$ Esecuan at the Erinct the fecone Purt;

[ 129 ]

the Dofe is cncreafed, and the Ordei,ire grows tired; but on the laft Cuitence, the Throat is fet a going, fere a Weather-cock in a Whirlwind, ad the Orchefre yawns. Bat why mant the World be thas coatinailly deefened with to many Divifons? I muft (risth your Leave, Gcntlemen Moderns) fiy in Favaur of the Profet: on, that good Tafte does not confire in a continual Velocity of the Voice, which goes thus rambling on, without a Guide, and without Foundation; but rather, in the Cantabile, in the putting forth the Voice agreably, in Appoggiatura's, in Art, and in the true Notion of Graces, going from one Note to another with fingular and unexpected Surprizes, and ficaling the Time exactly on the true Motion of the Bafs. Thcfe are the Frincipal and indifpenfible Qaalities which are moft effential to the finging weli, and which no mufical Ear can frad in your capricious Caiences. I muft till add, that very anciently the Stile of the Singers was infupportable,

$$
[130]
$$

(as I have been informed br the Mafo ter who taught me to Sol-fa) by reaton of the Number of Pallages and Diequas a their Cadenves, that never were atan cad, as they are now; and that they were thays the fame, Whas they are now: They became atlerto cdiou: that, as a Nufance to the Emre of Hearing, they were bunined withont 6 much as attempting their Cometion. Thus will it alGhapen to Thefe, at the firf Exampie given by a Singer whofe Credit is elablibud, and who will not be fecuced ty a vain popular Applaufe. This Refomation the fucceeding P-cfetrots of Eminerce frefcithed to themel:es as a Law, which perhaps wonlact have been abolithed, were the: ma Condrica to be head, but the Onvency fivme, Lof of the Voce, Age, an Denth of others, has deprived the Liwng from hearing what was truly worthy our Admiration in Singug. Now the Singers lugh at the Refcrmers, and their Refoumation of the Pallages in the Cadences; and, on on the contrary, having recalled them from thcir Banifhment, and brought them on the Stage, with fome little Caricatura to boot, they impofe them on the Ignorant for rare Inventions, and gain themfelves immenfe Sums; it giving them no Concern that they have been abhorr'd and detefted for fifiy or fixty Years, or for an hundred Ages. But who can blame them? However, if Reafon fhould make this Demand of them, with what unjuft Pretence can you ufurp the Name of Moderns, if you fing in a moft $A n$ cient Stile? Perhaps, you think that thefe Overflowings of your Throat are what procure you Riches and Praifes? Undeceive yourfelves, and thank the $\mathrm{gr}^{-}$t Number of Theatrcs, the Scar$\mathrm{c}^{+} \mathrm{y}$ y of excelient Performers, and the Sunidity of your Auditors. What could they anfwer? I know not. But let us call them to a ftricter Account.

[131]

§6. Gentlemen Moderns, can you poffibly deny, but that you laugh among yourfelves, when you have Recourle to your long-ftrung Paffages

$$
1: 321
$$

In the Culow, tw a berning for Applawe fom the blind Gorant? Tơ ant the Thck by the Nume of a. Ans, begaing for Charity as it We: f : hutyras, which, you vey well know you do not devive fon Juttee: ve in return you hate not Hua, Fec, nor Vace enorgh to aphou you. Is thijuntes? Is thi Guatu . $=$ = - -... Oh! if noy sree houlf fin yis ou!! My bloved Engers wo the sbedes of vour Camoes ane of vere yuat, they are wah oute poudinl to twe Prodfoi, and are be react Falts you an commit ; berse at the bame Beyen soow yourtics to be in the Wrong. Fo: vu: own Solses undereve the Whald, and emproyther are Taca: you are endowed with on Thazs thit wre worthy of you. In $\therefore$ Encon whle I wil! :ctam wih none Conaga to ny Gunims

8-. I homid be ri! disons o

- You the ee aom

$$
[133]
$$

dnow, on what Foundation certain Moderis of Reputation, and great Name, do on the fuperior Cadences always make the Shake on the third in Alt to the final Note; fince the Shake (which ought to be refolved) camnot be fo in this Cafe, by reaton of that very third, which being the dixth of the Bars hinders it, and the Cadence remains without a Refolution. If they fhould go fo far as to imagine, that the beit Rules depended on the Mode, I hould notwithtanding think, they mingt fometimes appeal to the Ear, to know if That was fitisfred with a Slake baten with the feventh and the lixth on a Bafowhich makes the Caderin ; and I more it would anfwer, No. From the Rules of the Ancients we leara, that the Shake is to be prepared on the fixth of the Bafs, thai ffer it the ifthi may be heard, for that is its proper: Place.
§8. Some othars of the fame Rank make their Cacomes in the Mamer of the Baffes, rhich is, in falling a fith, M with with a Paflage of fwift Notes defcending gradually, fuppofing that by this Means they cover the Octaves, which, tho' difguifed, will ftill appear.

[ 134 ]

§ 9 . I hold it alfo for certain, that no Profeffor of the firt Rank, in any Colence whatfoever, can be allowed to mase Shokes, or Divifions, on the lat Guables but one of thefe Words, ---Cnifonderi--- Ainero', &c. for they are Omaments that do not fuit on thofe Syllables which are fhort, but do well on the Antecedent.
§ 10. Very many of the fecond Clais end the inferior Cadences in the French Manner without a Sbake *, cither for want of Ability to make one, or from its being eafy to copy them, or from their Defire of finding out comething that may in Appearance iupport the Name of Modern. But in Fact they are miftaken; for the French do not leave out the Shake on the inFerior Cadences, except in the Patbe-

> §o. See for the Examples, Pl. V. Numb. 8 . Sio, *ise Example, Fl. YI. Numb y.

$$
\text { [ } 135 \text { ] }
$$

tick Airs; and our Italians, who are ufed to over-do the Mode, exclude it every where, tho' in the Allegro the Shake is abfolutely neceffary. I know, that a good Singer may with Reafon abftain from the Sbake in the Cantabile; however, it hould be rarely ; for if one of thofe Cadences be tolerable without that pleafing Grace, it is abfolutely impoffible not to be tired at length, with a Number one after another that die fuddenly.
§ir. I find, that all the Moderns (let them be Friends or Foes to the Sbake) in the inferior Cadences beforementioned go with an Appoggiatura to the final Note, on the penultimate Syllable of a Word; and this likewife is a Defect, it appearing to me, that on fuch Occafions the Appoggiatura is not pleafing but on the laft Syllable, after the Manner of the Ancients, or of thofe who know how to fing.
§ ri. See Example. PI. VI. Numb. 2.
N. B. An Appoggiatura cannot be made on an unaccented Syllable.

$[136]$

© 12. If, in the inferior Cadences, the tet Singe: cf the fe Days think they we cit in the wong in making you bathe find $N$ te before the But + , the deceive themselves grofiny ; for it $\therefore$ a way genet Emos, hurst the Eur, wa kr quint the Rules ; and becomes dually io, guns as they do) to the 1.me Note with an Appoggiatura, the Witch cither attending or defending, ictus after the $\mathrm{B}_{\mathrm{i}}$ is *, is always very
§ I 3 . And is it not wort of all, to moment the Hearers with a thoufand Ca mates all in the fame Manner? Fou whence proceeds this Sterility, fince every Profeffor knows, that the fureft way of gaining Efteem in Singing is a Variety in the Repetition? § 14. If among all the Cadences in the Airs, the lift allows a moderate Liberty to the Singer, to diftingain the end them, the Able of it is infembie. Eat it grows apo-© 12 + Ea for Exarnc, Pl. VI. Numb.

[ 137 ]

minable, when the Singer perfifis with his tirefome Warbling, naufeating the Judicious, who fuffer the more, becante they know that the Compofers leave generally in every final CaInnce fome Note, fufficient to make a diicreet Embellifhment; without seking for it out of Time, without Tate, withoat Art, and without fudgment *.
§15. I am fill more furprifed when I reflect, that the modern Stile, after having expoid all the Cadences of the theatrical $A$ irs to the Martyidom of a peppual Motion, will shewife lave the Cruelty to condemn to the fame Pumithment not Thofe in the Cantata's only, but allo the Ca4hees of their Recitatives. Do there singers preteria. by theis not diftiaguifhing dic Comber--Mufick from the immoterate Cargling of the stage, to cepect the valgar $E$ Vien's in the Cabinet of Prince:

[138]

& 16 . Let a fenfible Student avoid this Exmple, and with this Example the Abufes, the Defects, and every other Thiriz that is mean and common, as well in the Cadances as eliowhere.

S17. is, the inventing partcular Cidmis without inding the Time, has been cue of the worthy Employme:cis of the Ancints (fo call'd) let a. Etudent revive the Le of it; endea. varing to imitate them in their Skill f fmewhat artiopating the Time; and remember, tiat 1 hese, who unCri.... the Att of Gracing, do not wat to ammise the Beauty of it in a Slle:ce of the Burf.
& 18. Dany ard many other Errors reberd in the Culines that were fica, wh when become Boma; dey wee ridiculous then, re, ti.t hag the sule is not ah-catatroas an why
 ......t.

$$
E_{i} 10
$$

[ 139 ]

§ 19. Now let us for a while leave at Reft the Opinions of the aforefaid Ancients, and the fuppofed Moderns, to take Notice what Improvement the Scholir has made, fince he is defrous of being heard. Well then, let him atiend, before we part with him, to intruations of more Weight, that he may at leaft deferve the Name of a good Singer, though he may not arrive at that of an eminent one.

CHAP.

$$
[140]
$$

CHAP. IX.

Objervations for a Singer *.

 Ehold the Singer now apfearing in Publick, fron the Effects of his Application to the Study of the fo: : $\leq$ Lefons. Eut to what Purpofe does he appear? Whoever, in the great Theatre of the World, does not diftinguif himfelf, makes but a very infgnifant Figure.
& 2. From the coid Indifference perceived in many Singers, one would beiieve that the Science of Milufick im-

* Tircugh this Chapter regards Singers who nake it the:r Pruifinion, aird particularly thofe who firg on the Sage, yet there are many exceleri Fiecepts interferited, that are of Ufe to Lestes of Mufck.
plored

$$
[14 \mathrm{I}]
$$

plored their Favour, to be received by them as their moft humble Servant.
§3. If too many did not perfuade themfelves that they had ftudied fufficiently, there would not be fuch a Scarcity of the Beft, nor fuch a Swarm of the Worft. Thefe, becaufe they can fing by Heart three or four Ky rie's*, think they are arrived at the Non plus ultra; but if you give them a Cantata to fing, that is even eafy, and fairly written, they, inftead of complying as they ought, will tell you with an impudent Face, that Yerfons of their Degree are not obliged to fing in the vulgar Tongue at Sight. And who can forbear laughing? For a Mufician knowing that the Words, let them be either Latin or Italian, do not change the Form of the Notes, muft immediately conclude, that this pert Anfwer of the great Man pro-
§3. Kyrie, the firft Word of the MafsMulick in the Cathedral Stile, is not fo difficult to them as the Cantata's; and the Latin in the Service, being familiar to them, faves them the Trouble of attending to the Words.

[ 142 ]

ceeds from his not bsing able to fing at Sight, or from his not knowing how to read ; and he judges right. §4. There are an infinite Number of § 4. Tomas Moricy, (who lived above an huncred $Y$ cats aro) in the third Part of his Treatife, res. 179, ireaking of Moiftts or Anthems, comptairs thus: ... 6 But I fee not 6 what Paffions or Motions it can fir up, being

- as moft Men doe commonlie Sing, -.- leaving

6 out the Ditiy --- as it were a Municke made
6 onely for Infruments, which will indeed fhew
' the Nature of the Mufick, but never carry
' the $S_{\text {pinit }}$ and (as it were) that lively Soule
' whin the Dity gireth; but of this erough.

- And to return to the exprefing of the Ditty,

6 the Nituter is now come to tiot State, that 'thouch a Eong be ciever fo wel made, and Gever fo artly applyed to the Words, yet
' fhall you harly find Singers to exprefie it as
' it ought to be ; for moft of our Church-men,

- (fo they can crie louder in the Quire then 6 their Fellowes) care for no more; whereas, 6y the contrarie, they ought to ftudy how to

- vowel and fing clean, exprefing their Words
' with Devotion and Pafton, whereby to draw 6 the Hearer as it weee in Claines of Gold by ' the Eares to the Confideration of holy Thirgs.
6 But this, for the moft part, you fhall find a' mongft them, that let them continue never fo
- long

[ 143 ]

of ${ }^{\prime}$ others, who wifh and figh for the Moment that eafes them from the painful Fatigue of their firft Studies, hoping to have a Chance to make one in the Crowd of the fecond Rate; and ftumbling by good Luck on fomething that gives them Bread, they immediately make a Legg to Mufick and its Study, not caring whether the World knows they are, or are not a- . mong the Living. Thefe do not confider that Mediocrity in a Singer means Ignorance.
§ 5. There are alfo feveral who ftudy nothing but the Defects, and are endow'd with a marvelous Aptnefs to learn them all, having fo happy a Memory as never to forget them. Their Genius is fo inclined to the Bad, that

- lona in the Church, yea though it were twen-
- tie Years, they will never iluly to fing better ' than they did the firft Day of their Prefer-
- ment to that Place; fo that it feems, that
- baving obtained tha Living which they fought
- for, they have lictle or no Care at all, either
- of their own Credit, or wel difchargung of
- that Dutie whereby they have their Mainte' nauce.'
if by Gift of Nature they had the bent of Voices, they would be difoontented if they could not find forme Means to mise the wont.

इ 6 . One cf a better Spirit will encavour to keep better Company. He will be emile of the Necenity of farthee Diforeves, of farther Inftructiow, wee even of another Matter, of whom, ben es the Ate of Singing, he wall be th d tom how to behave heat uh prod Breeding. This, able to the Mere accused by his Singway give him Hopes of the Favert Princes, and of an universal Stem.

8-. If he circe the Character of C: ana Nina of Dit and Judgment, la han ane be wiener er too bold. Le: hm an has and difro. $\because \therefore . . \mathrm{Cmpay}$; bat, above all, fuck: chimalves to feandalous Incult.
?. T. Tint Parian ought not to be ins and wore emollient in the $\therefore \quad \because \therefore$ Buhaver is vulgar and rides.

$$
[145]
$$

vided he makes his Fortune, whether it be at the Expence of his Reputation.
§ ro. The bef School is the Nobility, from whom every thing that is genteel is to be learned; but when a Mufician finds that his Company i: not proper, let him retire without repining, and his Modefty will be to his Commendation.
§ 1 I. If he thould not meet vith a Gratification from the Great, let him never complain ; foe is is better to get but little, than to lofe a great deal, and that is not feldom the Cefe. The beft he can do, is to be affiduous in ferving them, that at leaft he may hope for the Pleifure of fecing then for once gratcful, or be convinced ior ever of their being ungriteful.
§ 12. My long and repeated Travels have given me an Opprtunity of being acquainted with nott of the Courts of Europe, and Ewamples, more than my Words, thouk perfuade every abie Singer to fee them aifo ; but without yielding up his LiberN ty to their Allurements: For Chains, though of Gold, are ftill Chains; and they are not all of that precious Metal: Eefides, the feveral Inconratencies of Digrace, Mortifications, Uacertinty; and, above all, the HinSame of Stury.
§1: The geldan Age of Mulick would be cieady it in End, if the swas: did not make their Nefts on cme Thatas in Ital, or on the royal Batks of the Thames. O dear Lowinn' - On the other Streams, they mign no more as they ufed to do their tweet Notes at their expiring; but rather fadly liment the Expiration of thoie auguit and adorable Princes, by whom they were tenderly belord Eitemed. This is the ufual Vicinitude of Things in this World; ad we daily fee, thit whatever is cojluarary mut of Neceffity decline.

 $\therefore \therefore \because$ Su:u, sic.

$$
[147]
$$

Let us leave the Tears to the Heart, and return to the Singer.
§ 14. A difcreet Perfon will never ufe fuch affected Expreffions as, I cannot fing Today; ... I've got a deadly Cold; and, in making his Excufe, falls a Coughing. I can truly fay, that I have never in my Life heard a Singer own the Truth, and fay, In wery well To-day: They referve the unfeafonable Confeftion to the next Day, when they make no Difficulty to fay, In all my Days my Voice was never in better Order than it was Tefterday, I own, on certain Conjunctures, the Pretext is not only fuitable, but even neceffary ; for, to fpeak the Truth, the indifcreet Parfimony of fome, who would hear Mufick for Thanks enly, goes fo far, that they think a Mifter is immediately obliged to obey them gratis, and that the Refufal is an Offence that deferves Refentment and Revenge. But if it is a Law human and divine, that every Body fhould live by their honeft Labour, what barbarous Cuftom obliges

[148]

: Indican to fore without a Recongrace: A curse Overbearing; $O$ $\because$ aid Above!

E 15 A Singer, that knows the Woad. datioxumes women the deffount incomers of Commanding; he honer how to refute without dirchines, ad how to obey wii a God Grace; not being jonomant, that ane who bes hi- Entered mot at Four $\therefore$ Kermes finds his Account a: : an one who thinks on nothing rut Guin, is in the ready way to renisan ignorant.

SI-. Who would ever think, (if Experience did not hew it) that a Virtue of the higher Estimation ihonis prejudice a Singer : And yet, whit Priumption and Arrogance :Bumph, Inn thech'd to think ont) amiable Humility, the more the Sing$e$ has of it, the more it depreffes him. E If. At frit Sight, Arrogance has the Appearance of Ability ; but, upon a nearer View, I can difcover Ignorance in Mafquerade.

$$
\text { [ } 149 \text { ] }
$$

§ 19. This Arrogance ferves them fometimes, as a politick Artifice to hide their own Failings: For Example, certain Singers would not be unconcern'd, under the Shame of not being able to fing a few Barrs at Sight, if with Shrugs, fcornful Glances, and malicious haking of their Heads, they did not give the Auditors to underftand, that thofe grofs Errors are owing to him that accompanies, or to the Orcheftre.
§ 20. To humble fuch Arrogance, may it never meet with that Incenfe which it expects.
§ 2 I. Who could fing better than the Arrogant, if they were not afhamed to ftudy ?
§22. It is a Folly in a Singer to grow vain at the firft Applaufes, without reflecting whether they are given by Chance, or out of Flattery; and if he thinks he deferves them, there is an End of him.

$$
\mathrm{N}_{3} \quad \S_{23}
$$

$$
[150]
$$

§ 23 . He fhould regulate his Voice according to the Place where he fings; for it would be the greatert Abfurdity, rov to make a Difference between a imn Cabinet and a vatt Theatre.
§ $2 \div$. He is till more to be blam'd, who, when finging in two, three, or fou: Pares, does fo raile his Voice as to duown his Companions; for if it is not Igrowance, it is fomething worfe.

52 . All Compeftions for more than one Voice ought to be fung inetly as they are witten; nor do they requie any other Art but a nothe simethe. I romember to have hewd orce a tamows Duitio torn into Arm: by two renownd Singers, in Encuan: the one profofing, and the cherby Tumsonivering, that at $\therefore$ ans iun hane a Rom, teaking the $\because$ Oucus and turary the Ausiors with their $\because$.
j25. The verowe Abje Sufan, fo faMa. Wrant suzes to permary of them, unlefs laft

$\left[\begin{array}{lll}151\end{array}\right]$

laft it ended in a Conteft, who could produce the moft Extravagancies.
§ 26. The Correction of Friends, that have Knowledge, inftructs very much; but ftill greater Advantage may be gain'd from the ill-natur'd Criticks; for, the more intent they are to difcover Defects, the greater Benefit may be receiv'd from them without any Obligation.
§ 27 , It is certain, that the Errors corrected by our Enemies are better cured, than thofe corrected by ourfelves; for we are apt to indulge our Faults, nor can we fo eafily perceive them.
§ 28. He that fings with Applaufe in one Place only, let him not have too good an Opinion of himfelf; let him often change Climates, and then he will judge better of his Talent.
§ 20. To pleafe univerfally, Reafon will tell you, that you muft always fing well; but if Reaton does not inform you, Intereft will perfuade you to conform to the Tafte of that Nation (provided it be not too deprav'd) which pays you.

$$
\text { § } 30 .
$$

$$
[1 ; 2]
$$

50. If he that figs well provokes Err, by flinging better he will get the Victor over it.
§3I. I do not know if a perfect Singer can at the fume time be a perfect Actor; for the Mind being at once divided by two different Operations, he will probably incline more to one than the other: It being, however, much more difficult to hing well than to ce well, the Merit of the firn is Eve nd the fecund. What a Felicity would it be, to polled both in a perfeet Dare!
§ 32. Having fid, a Singer hound rot copy; I repeat it now with this Renin; that to copy is the part of a Scholar, that of a Minter is to invent.

[^5]$$
\S 33 .
$$

[ 153 ]

§ 33. Let it be remembered by the Singer, that copying comes from Lazinefs, and that none copy ill but out of Ignorance.
§34. Where Knowledge with Study makes one a good Singer, Ignorance with one fingle Copy malies a thoufand bad ones; however, among thefe there are none that will acknowleage her for a Teacher.
$$ 35$. If many of the female (ingers (for whom I have due Refeet) would be pleafed to confider, thit by copyiig a good one, they are iccome very bad ones, they would not appear fo ridiculous on the Stage for their Affectation in prefuming to fing the Airs of the Perfon they copy, with the fame Graces. In this great Error, (if it does not proceed from their Mafters) they feem to be govern'd by Inftinct, lise the inferior Creatures, rather than by Reafon; for That would fhew them, that we may arrive at Applaufe by different ways, and paft Examples, as well as one at this prefent fent，＊make us fenible，that two Waen would not be equally emi－ ne．：if the one coperd the other．

［ $15+$ ］

\＆ 3 ．If the Complaifance，which scue to the fair Sex，daces not excule the Abufe of copying when it proves Fresudent to the Pocemion，what of hat ane then to fy cf thofe Men， wio，inted of meenting，not only cay ohere of their own Sex，but alfo W⿵⺆⿻二丨冂刂灬：Fohth and hamful！－－ Suppuar on Impombility，wiz．that a Soger has arrived at copyng in fuch a Marner a：not to be ciltinguithed foom the Origal，foould he attribute to himflf a Merit which does not be－ bing to him，and dref himfelf out in the Hakits of another without being afoed ef being itripp of them？
§ $3^{-}$．He，that righty knows how oncorv in Mufick times nothing but the Denga；bucure that Ornament， which we aume when natural，im－ mediately lofes its Beauty when artificial.
Cotemo Women, he points at, are

[155]

§38. The moft admired Graces of a Profeffor ought only to be imitated, and not copied ; on Condition alfo, that it does not bear not even fo much as a Shadow of a Refemblance of the Original; otherwife, inftead of a beautiful Imitation, it will become a defpicable Copy.
§39. I cannot decide, which of the two deferves moft to be defpifed, one who cannot imitate a good Singer without Caricatura's, or He that cannot imitate any well but bad ones.
§40. If many Singers knew, that a bad Imitation is a contagious Evil, to which one who ftudies is not liable, the World would not be reduc'd to the Misfortune of feeing in a Carnaral but one Theatre provided with eminent Performers, without Hopes of § 40. The Cainaval is a Fertival in Ilaly, particularly celebrated at l'cnice from Cbrijfma/s to Lent, when all Sorts of Diverfionsare pernitted; and at Ilat Time there are fometimes three different Tleatess for Opera's only.
an approaching Remedr. Let them triee it for their Pains. Let the World learn to applaud Verit; and (not to wie a more harih Expretion) be lefs complaiant to Faulte.
© $\div$. Whoever dces not know how to titeat the Time in Sirsing knows not b=a to Comoor, nor to Accompany himelt, and is deftata of the beft Taxe and avores hacwadge.
$\div 2$. The tex in of Time, in the Putatice, is an honnorable Theft in coe that mags bater then others, proViad hemaies a Refitution with In=enuity.

$$
太 43
$$

[ 157 ]

$43. An Exercife, no lefs neceffary than this, is That of agreably putting forth of the Voice, wihhout which all Application is vain. Whofoever pretends to obtain it, muft hearken more to the Dictates of the Heart, than to tho 展 of Art.
§44. Oh! how great a Mafter is the Heart! Confefs it, my beloved Eingers, and aratefully own, that you would not have arriw? at the highent Rank of the Profehon if you had not been its Scholars; own, thet in a few Leffons from it, you lamed the moit beautiful Exprefions, the moft refin'd Tate, the moft noble ACtion, and the moft exquilite Graces: Own, (though it be hardly cretible) that the Heari corrects the Defocts of Nature, fince it foftens a Voice that's harih, betters an indifferent one, and pref.cts a good one: Own, when the Hari fungs you cannot diffemble, no: has Truth a greater Power of perfuad ng : And, laftiy, do you comvince the Wonll, (what is not in my Power to do) that fre $m$ the Heirt alons you have learn' ?, that $\mathcal{F}^{2}$ ne $f_{i} a i$ quoy, that pleafing Charm, that fo fubtily paffes from Vein to Vein, and makes its way to the very Soul.

$$
[158]
$$

§ 45 . Though the way to the Heart is long and rugged, and known but to few, a ftudious Application will, notwithftanding, mafter all Obftacles.
§ 46. The beft Singer in the World continues to fudy, and perfifs in it as much to maintain his Reputation, as he did to acquire it.
§ 47. To arrive at that glorious End, every body knows that there is no other Means than Study ; but That does not fuffice ; it is alfo neceffary to know in what Manner, and with whofe Affiftance, we muft purfue ourStudies.
§ 48. There are now-a-days as many Mafters as there are Profeffors of Muick in any Kind; every one of them teaches, I don't mean the firft Rudiments only, (That would be an Affront to them;) I am now feaking of thofe who take upon them the part of a Legiflator in the moft finifhed part in Singing; and fould we then wonder that the good Tafte is near lof, and that the Profefion is going to Ruin? So mirchievousa Pretenfion prevails not only among thofe, who can barely be faid to fing, but among the meaneft inftrumental Per- formers; who, though they never fung, nor know how to fing, pretend not only to teach, but to perfect, and find fome that are weak enough to be impofed on. But, what is more, the inffrumental Performers of fome Ability imagine that the beautiful Graces and Flourifhes, with their nimble Fingers, will have the fame Effect when executed with the Voice; but it will not do *. I hould be the firft to condemn the magifterial Liberty I take, were it meant to give Offence to fuch Singers and inftrumental Performers of Worth, who know how to fing, perform, and inftruct; but my Correction aims no farther than to the Petulancy of thofe that have no Capacity, with thefe few Words, Age grod agis; whicn (for thofe who do not underfand Letin) is as much as to fay, - Do You mind your Sol-fa; and You, your Inftrument.

[ 159 ]

[^6]$$
[160]
$$
§ 49. If fometimes it does happen, that an indifferent Mafter fhould make an excellent Difciple, it is then inconteftable, that the Giff of Nature in the Student is fuperior to the Sufficiency of the Intructor; and it is not to be wonder'd at, for, if from time to time, even great Mafters were not out-done, moft of the fineft Arts would have funk before now.
§50. It may feem to many, that every perfect Singer muft allo be a perfect Intructor, but it is not fo; for his Qualifications (though ever fo. great) are infuficient, if he cannot com-communicate his Sentiments with Eafe, and in a Method adapted to the Ability of the Scholar ; if he has not fome Notion of Compofition, and a manner of inftructing, which may feem rather an Entertainment than a Leffon; with the happy Talent to fhew the Ability of the Singer to Advantage, and conceal his Imperfections; which are the principal and moft neceffary Inftructions.

[ 16 t ]

§51. A Mafter, that is poffeffed of the above-mentioned Qualifications, is capable of Teaching ; with them he will raife a Defire to ftudy ; will correct Errors with Reafon ; and by Examples incite a Tafte to imitate him. §52. He knows, that a Deficiency of Ornaments difpleafes as much as the too great Abundance of them; that a Singer makes one languid and dull with too little, and cloys one with too much; but, of the two, he will: diflike the former moft, though it gives lefs Offence, the latter being eafier to be amended.

$$
\mathrm{O}_{3} \quad $ 53 .
$$

[162]

§ 33 . He will have no Manner of Efteem for thofe who have no other Graces than gradual Dicifions * ; and will tell you, Embellifhments of this Sort are only fit for Beginners.
§ 54 . He will have as little Efteem fo: thore who think to make their Auditors saint awa, with their Tranfition from the lhat Third to the Flat.
55. Hell till wa, that a Singer is lazy, who on the Etage, from Night to Night, teaches the Audience all his Songs; who by hearing thein alwa:s wihcut the leat Variation, haver.o Dificuly to learn them by Hert.
$ 56. Fie will be affrighted at the Rathe of of one that launches out, with litile Practice, and le's Study; lef venturing ton far. he hould be in great Danger ui lofing himelf.
S.3.* Taそ and Parceio. The Difference is, the: $F$ ar is a duder Grace or Flight, not uri: Tm. Ese P! VI Numb. 5. A Paflagio is a Ditif: a Contination, or a Succefion of No:es, flemding or cefcencing with UniforEnity, ice P! VI, Numb, 6 .

$$
[163]
$$

§ 57 . He will not praife one that pretumes to fing two Parts in three of an Opera, promifing himfelf never to be tirefome, as if that divine Privilege of always pleafing were allowed him here below. Such a one does not know the firf Principle of mufical Politicks; but Time will teach it him. He, that fings little and well, fings very well.
§ $5^{8}$. He will hugh at thofe who imagine to fatisfy the Publick with the Magnificence of their Habits, without reflecting, that Merit and Ignorance are equally aggrandized by Pomp. The Singers, that have nothing but the outward Appearance, pay that Debt to the Eyes, which they owe to the Ears.
§59. He will naufente the newinvented Stile of thofe who provoke the imnocent Notes with coarfe Startings of the Voice. A difagreable Defect ; however, being brought from §59. This alludes to the French Manner of Singing, from whence that Defect is copy'd. beyond

$[164]$

beyond the Alps, it paffes for a modern Rarity.
§ 60 . He will be aftonifhed at this bewitched Age, in which fo many are paid fo well for finging ill. The Moderns would not be pleas'd to be put in Mind, that, twenty Years ago, indifferent Singers had but mean Parts allotted them, even in the fecondrate Theatres; whereas at prefent, thofe, who are taught like Parrots, heap up Treafures beyond what the Singers of the firft Degree then did.
§6I. He will condemn the Igrorance of the Men moft, they being more obliged to fudy than the Women.
§ 62. He will not bear with one: who imitates the Women, even in facrificing the Time, in order to acquire the itite of Modern.
§ 63. He will marvel at that Sing-
§ to. The Time he alludes to, is at, prefent between thirty and forty Years ago.
§63. Compare this Section with Section 4 r in this Chapter and the Note.

$$
[165]
$$

er, who, having a good Knowledge of Time, yet does not make ufe of it, for want of having apply'd himfelf to the Study of Compolition, or to accompany himfelf. His Miftake makes him think ${ }_{2}$ that, to be eminent, it fuffices to fing at Sight ; and does not perceive that the greateft Difficulty, and the whole Beauty of the Profeifion confifts in what he is ignorant of ; he wants that Art which teaches. to anticipate the Time, knowing where to lofe it again; and, which is ftill more charming, to know how to lofe it, in order to recover it again; which are the Advantages of fuch as underfand Compofition, and have the beft Tafte.
§ 64 . He will be difpleafed at the Prefumption of a Singer who gets the Words of the moft wanton Airs of the Theatre rendered into Latin, that he may fing them with Applaufe in the

[^7]Church;

[166]

Church; as if there were no Manner. of Dificreace benwen the Stile of the one and the other; and, as if the Scraps of the Stage were fit to offer to the Deity.
§65. What will he not fay of him who has found out the prodigious Art of Singing like a Cricket? Who could have ever imagin'd, before the Introduction of the Mode, that ten or a dozen Quavers in a Row could be trundled along one after another, with a Sort of Treinor of the Voice, which for fome time paft has gone under the Name of Mordente Frefoc?
§66. He will have a ftill greater Deteftation for the Invention of Laughing in Singing, or that freaming like a Hen when fhe is laying her Egg. Will there not be fome other little Animal worth their Imitation, in order to make the Profeffion more and more ridictlous?
$\S t_{7}$. He will difapprove the malicious Cuftom of a Singer in Repute,

$$
\oint 6_{5} \text { See Example, Pl. VI. Numb. } 7 .
$$

$$
[167]
$$

who talks and laughs on the Stage with his Companions, to induce the Publick to believe that fuch a Singer, who appears the firt time on the Stage, does not deferve his Attention; when in reality he is afraid of, or en. vies, his gaining Applaufe.
§63. He cannot endure the Vanity of that Singer, who, full of himfelf from the little he has learned, is fo taken with his own Performance, that he feems falling into an Extafy; pretending to impofe Silence and create Wonder, as if his firft Note faid to the Audience, Hear and Die: But they, unwilling to die, chufe not to hear him, talk loud, and perhaps not much to his Advantage. At his fecond Air the Noife encreafes, and fill encreafing, he looks upon it as a manifeft Injury done him ; and, inftead of correcting his conceited Pride by Study, he curfes the deprav'd Tafte of that Nation that does not efteem him, menacing never to return again; and thus the vain Wretch comforts himfelf.

$$
[168]
$$

§69. He will laugh at one who will not act unlefs he has the Choice of the Drama, and a Compofer to his liking; with this additional Condition, not to fing in Company with fuch a Men, or without fuch a Woman.
§ 70 . With the like Derifion, he will obierve fome others, who with an Humility worfe than Pride, go from one Box to another, gathering Praifes from the moit illuftrious Perfons, under a Pretence of a moor profound Obfequioufnefs, and become in every Reprefentation more and more familiar. Humility and Modeny are moft beautiful Virtues; but if they are not accompanied with a little Decorm, they have iome Refemblance to Hypocrify.
§71. He will have no great Opinion of one, who is not fatisfied with his Part, and never learins it ; of one, who never fings in an Opera without thrufting in one Air which he always carries in his Pocket ; of one, who bribes the Compofer to give him an Air that was intended for another; of one, who who takes Pains about Trifes, and neglects Things of Importance; of one, who, by procuring undeferved Recommendations, makes himfelf and his Patron ridiculous; of one, who does not furtain his Voice, out of Averfion to the Patbetick; of one, who gallops to follow the Mode; and of all the bad Singers, who, not knowing what's grood, court the Mode to learn its Defects.

$$
[169]
$$

$$ 72$. To fum up all, he will call none a Singer of Merit, but him who is correit ; and who execites with a Variety of Graces of his own, which his Skill infires him with unpiemeditately ; knowing, that a Profeffor of Eminence cannot, if he would, continually repeat an Air with the felf-lame Pafages and Graces. He who fings premeditately, fhews he has learn'd his Leffon at Home.
§ 73. After having corrected feveral other Abufes and Defects, to the Advantage of the Singer, he will return with ftronger Reafons to perfuade him to have Recourfe to the fundamental Ru'es, which will teach him to proceed on the Buis from one Interval to another, with fure Stepe, and without D.nger of eming. If then the Enzer fhould ay, fir, you troubie variflf in wan, for the bare Kroweraze of the Ereors is not fufti-a-a: I mereak tother Hup than is, face it foms that there is at preGut hach a Saruly ú good Exmlas in It\%: Tfor, freughing his Goulers, he wili whiver him, mther with Sighs tha: Words; that he meft endeasour to larn of the beft Sogers ther there cre; particularly by cbiculag two of the fair Sex, * of a Mea Merit fuperior to all Praife; who with equal Force, in a different Stile, help to keep up the tottering Profeffion from immediately falling into Ruin. The one is inimitable for a privitgd Gift of Singing, and for enchanting the World with a prodigious Fe licity in executing, and with a finguSar Eillant, (I know not whether from Nature or Art) which pleafes to Excefs. Thedelightful foothing Canabile of the other, joined with the Sweetners of a fine bince, a perfect Intonation, Stricuncf of 'Time, and the rartit Prubuctions of a Genius, are Qualifations as particular and uncommon, as tiey are difficult to be imitated. The Pathetick of the one, and the Allegro of the other, are the Qualities the mon to be admired roipectively in each of them. What a teautiful Mixture would it be, if the Excellence of thefetwo angelick Creatures could be united in one fingle two famous Singers in his Time, with the fame ditinguifhing Qualifications.

[170]

P 2
Perfon!

Perrin! But let as not lode Sight of tine Mate:
s-4. He will ado convince the $\therefore$. $\therefore$, that the Artifice of a Pro$\therefore \ddot{Z}:$ is suer moue plano, than way ie deceive the Audience with seethe Enprizer f for which reafon ls wi andre him to have Recourse t. Admins Clamant, as if he aimed axing de.

-     - but wa tho Audience is in a che I xasaticn, and as I may $\because$ scat them that Infant with a Graze

8-6. When they are again awake, he win direct him to return to his tied Emplicity, though it will no more be in his Power to delude thole that heat him, for when an patient Gan they alana expect a feand and is on $\therefore-7$. He rill give him ample In. teatime concerning braces of all bet: aud fuming hem when Rules and Frotabe Documents

$$
\approx-8 . \mathrm{Her}
$$

[ 173 ]

$\S 7^{8}$. Here hould I inveigh though I could not enough) againft the 'Treachery of my Memory, that has not preferved, as it ourht, all thofe peculiar Excellencies which a great Man did once communicate to me, concerning Pallages and Graces; and to my great Sorrow, and perhaps to the Lofs of others, it whil not ferve me to publifh any morethan the fe few poor Remains, the Impreffions of which are ftill left, and which I am now going to mention.

CIIAP.

[174]

Fakicirn

CHAP. X.

Of Paffages or Graces.

Alleges or Graces being the principal Ornaments in Singing, and the mot failwaite Delight of the Jadicious, it is proper that the Singer be very attentive to learn this Art.
§ 2. Therefore let him know, that there are five principal Qualitations, which being mite, will bring him (1) admirable Perfection, viz. Judymont, Invention, Time, Sit, and Toffee:
§ 3 . There are likewise five fubaltern Embellimments viz. the $A p$ pogsiatira, the Slake, the putting forth of the Voice, the Gliding, and Bragging.

The principal Qualifications teach, §4. That the Paflages and Graces cannot be form'd but from a profound Fudgment.
§ 5 . That they are produced by a fingular and beautiful Invention, remote from all that is vulgar and common.
§ 6. That, being govern'd by the rigorous, but neceffary, Precepts. of Time, they never tranfgrefs its regulated Meafure, without lofing their own Merit.
§7. That, being guided by the moft refined Art on the Bafs, they may There (and no where clie) fond their Center ; there to fport with Delight, and unexpectedly to charm.
§8. That, it is owing to an exquifite Tafe, that they are executed with that fweet putting fortb of the Voice, which is fo enchinting.
From'the accefary Qualities is learn'd, § 9 . That the Graces or Pafages be eafy in Appearance, thereby to give univerfal Delight,

$$
\text { [ } 17^{6} \text { ] }
$$

§ Io.That in effect They be difficult, that thereby the Art of the Inventor be the more admired.
§ in. That They be performed with an equal regard to the Expreffion of the Words, and the Beauty of the Art.
§ 12. That They be gliding or dragzivig in the Pathetick, for They hare a better Effect than thofe that are mark'd.
§ 13 . That They do not appear fudied, in order to be the more regarded.
§ I4. That They be foftened with the Piano in the Patbetick, which will make them more affecting.
$$ 15$. That in the Allegry They be anceines accompanited with the Forte and the Piano, fo as to make a fort of Chors Scars.
IIt. That They be confin'd to a Girctof of fuw Notes, which aré more fleatis than thofe which are too numetous.
& 17. That in a flow Time, there may be a greater Number of them
(if the Bafs allows it) with an Obligation upon the Singer to keep to the Point propos'd, that his Capacity be made more confpicuous.
§ 18. That They be properly introduc'd, for in a wrong Place They difguft.
19. That They come not too clofe together, in order to keep them diftinct.
§ 20. That They hould proceed rather from the Heart than from the Voice, in order to make their way to the Heart more eafily.
§ 21. That They be not made on the fecond or fourth Vowel, when clofely pronounc'd, and much lefs on the third and fifth.
§22. That They be not copied, if you would not have them appear defective.
§ 23. That They be ftol'n on the Time, to captivate the Soul.
§ 24. That They never be repeated in the fame place, particularly in Pa thetick Airs, for there they are the moft moft taken Notice of by the Judicious. § 25. And, above all, let them be improv'd; by no means let them lofe in the Repetition.

$$
\left[17^{8}\right]
$$

§ 26. Many Profeffors are of Opinion, that in Graces there is no room for the mark'd Diojfons, unlefs mix'd. with fome of the aforefaid Embellimments, or fome other agreable Accidents.
§ 27. But it is now time that we fpeak of the Dragging, that, if the Patbetick fhould once return again into the World, a Singer might be able to underftand it. The Explanation would be eafier underftood by Notes of Mufick than by Words, if the Printer was not under great Difficulty to print a few Notes; notwithftanding which, I'll endeavour, the beft I can, to make myfelf underftood.
§28. When on an even and regular Movement of a Bafs, which proceeds flowly, a Singer begins with a high Note, dragging it gently down to a low one, with the Forte and Piano, almoft gradually, with Inequality lity of Motion, that is to fay, flopping a little more on fome Notes in the Middle, than on thofe that begin or end the Strafcino or Dragg*. Every good Mufician takes it for granted, that in the Art of Singing there is no Invention fuperior, or Execution more apt to touch the Heart than this, provided however it be done with Judgment, and with putting forth of the Voice in a juft Time on the Bafs. Whofoever has moft Notes at Command, has the greater Advantage ; becaufe this pleafing Ornament is fo much the more to be admired, by how much the greater the Fall is. Perform'd by an excellent Soprano, that makes ufe of it but feldom, it becomes a Prodigy ; but as much as it pleafes defcending, no lefs would it ditipleafe afcending.

$$
\text { [ } 179 \text { ] }
$$

§ 29. Mind this, O my beloved Singers! For'it is to You only, who are inclined to ftudy, that I have addreffed myfelf. This was the Doctrine of the School of thofe Profer-§ 28.* See Examples, Pl. VI. Numb. 8 and 9.
fors,

[190]

Cos, whom, by wy of Reproich, a we mitaken Perions call Ancients. Owire carefully its Rules, examine pheily its Precepts, and, if not blinded OPreiudice, you will ree that this Scheol ought to fing in Tune, to put fowh the Voice, to mase the Woads wasertoci, to erpets to we pober Genae, to perfom in Time, th vury an A Mement, th comane, ad $\therefore$ Eucy the Putati, io whoh are Trite and Jucamos tamphe. Coment this Schor with you-, and to miant voa, lu... whtis wantivg fom the volu.

$[181]$

renowned Singers; who you take to be Moderns, but are not fo, except in their Cadences; ) and having undeceived yourfelves, you will perceive in them, that intead of Affectations, Abales, and Errors, They fing accorting to thofe powerful Leffons that give Delight to the Soul, and whofe Perfections have made Impreffinos on me, and which I thall always remember with the greateft Piatiore. Do but confult them, as I have done, and they will truly and Geely tell you, That They fell their Jewels where they are underitood; That the Singers of Eminence are not of the drife, and that at pretent there we many bual Singer.
§3:. Tue it is, that there are fome, tho few, very good Singers, vio, when the Vthemence of their yunthel Fire is abouth, will by their Exmmed, Jutice to the ir delighifal Profuition, in keeping ap the Splendor of it, and will las io Potterity a lating add glorivis Fune of their Pertomances. I punt them out to you, that, if you mini yourfelves in an Error, you may not want the Means to correct it, nor an Oracle to apply to whenever you have occafion. From whence I have good Grounds to hope, that the true Tafte in Singing will laft to the End of the World.

[ 182 ]

§ 32. Whoever comprehends what has been demonftrated to him, in thefe and many other Obfervations, will need no farther Incitement to ftudy. Stirred up by his own Defire, he will fly to his beloved Initrument, from which, by continued Application, he will find he has no Reafon to fit down fatisfied with what he has learn'd before. He will make new Difcoveries, inventing new Graces, from whence after comparing them well together, he will chufe the beft, and will make ufe of them as long as he thinks them fo; but, going on in refining, he will find others more deferving his Eiteem. To conclude, from thefe he will proceed on to an almof infinite Number of Graces, by the means whereof his Mind will be fo opened, that the moft hidden Treafures of the Art, and moft remote from his Imagination, will voluntarily prefent themfelves; fo that, unlefs Pride blinds him, or Study becomes tirefome to him, or his Memory fails him, he will encreafe his Store of Embellifhments, in a Stile which will be entirely his own: The principal Aim of one that frives to gain the highef Applaufe.

$$
[183]
$$

§33. Finally, O ye young Singers, hearken to me for your Profit and Advantage. The Abufes, the Defects, and the Errors divulg'd by me in thefe Obfervations, (which in Juffice ought not to be charg'd on the Modern Stile) were once almoft all Faults I myfelf was guilty of; and in the Flower of my Youth, when I thought myfelf to be a Great Man, it was not eafy for me to difcover them." But, in a more mature Age, the flow Undeceit comes too late. I know I have fung ill, and 'would I have not writ worfe? but fince I have fuffered by my Ignorance, let it at leaft ferve for a Warning to amend thofe who wifh to fing well. He that fudies, let him imitate the ingenious Bee, that fucks its Honey from the moft grateful Flowers. From thofe called Ancients, and thofe fuppofed Moderns, (as I have faid) much may be learn'd ; it is enough to find out the Flower, and know how to diftill, and draw the Efience from it.

$$
[184]
$$

§34. The moit cordial, and not les proftable Advice, II can give you, is the following:
$$ 35$. Remember what has been Witiy obletved, that Mediocrity of Merit can but for a hort time ecliple the true Sublime, which, how old foever it grows, can never die.
$35. Abher the Example of thofe who hate Correction; for like Lightning to the who walk in the Dark, tho' it frightens them, it gives them Light.
§ 37. Learn from the Errors of oiners: O great Leffon! it cofts litie, and intracts much. Of every one iomething is to be learned, and the moft Igroment is fometimes the greateft Mafter.

$$
\vec{j} \mathrm{j}
$$

$$
F I N I S
$$

[^0]:    § $i$. Our Author feems to be a little too partial in Favoar of the Singer, all momentary Productions ling the bame ; though it mult be allowed

[^1]:     were Dema… athe Somidm Major and c. cures,

[^2]:    § 5. See for the feveral Sxamples of the Brate, PI. IV.
     Numt. r.
    §7. The focond diake of a Simiton Natice, Pl. IV. Numb. 2.

[^3]:    § 5. The Proverb is, * Lingua Tofcana in bocea Romana. - This regards the different Dialects in İtaly; as Neatelitan, Venctian, &c. the fame, in Compari:on, Londen to York, or Smerfothaite.

[^4]:    §4. The gencral dyiding of Airs defribed, to which the Author often iefers.

[^5]:    太 jr. A.... $\because$, whoa came the for time into $\quad \ldots \ldots \ldots$ a (Q).- :lies, mes ti.nnany tat ha: e come hance. He Sis o P Paction, onus t mi tag much inantiquate Techs. lan an i. who was hereat the ane late = Snow i Pith ot, though rat is a war... in Voice or aten as Nitalini, [^6]:    §48. A farther Animadverfion againft imitating Infruments with the Voice.

    * Many Graces may be very good and proper for a Violin, that would be very improper for a Hautboy; and fo with every Species of Inftruments that have fomething peculiar. It is a very great Error (too much in Practice) for the Voice, (which fhould ferve as a Standard to be imitated by Inftruments, to copy all the Tricks practifed on the feveral Inffruments, to its greateff Detriment.

[^7]:    § 64 . This is a Fault more thian once heard of, in Oratorio's or Motttts.

